FIVE BOYS CRASH VICTIMS

Local Election Officials Admit Vote Confusion

County Trying to Determine Who Won GOP Nomination

GREENSBURG — Several Monessen election officials told the Westmoreland County Board of Elections today that they had not understood the instructions concerning write-in votes at the May 21 primary.

The Board of Elections, which is composed of the three county commissioners, called in the judges of election and the minority inspectors from five Monessen precincts in an effort to determine the winners of Republican nominations for local offices.

No Republican candidates were filed and nearly all the Democratic candidates sought write-in and sticker votes on the GOP ticket.

Confusion in the handling of these votes has made it impossible so far to determine the Republican nominees.

With the Monessen election officials present, the commissioners this morning began going over the paper rolls from the voting machines. The write-in votes are recorded on these rolls.

Other Recounts

In addition to the contest for the mayoralty nomination between Mayor Hugo J. Parente and John R. Stieska, the county officials expect to recount the write-in votes for city council, city treasurer and school director.

Parente defeated Stieska for the Democratic mayoralty nomination by about 1,400 votes, but incomplete and unofficial returns on the Republican ticket have shown Stieska ahead.

The election board from the fifth precinct of the Fifth Ward, which includes the Park Plan, had reported no returns on the Republican ticket.

But a recheck of the paper rolls from this precinct today gave Stieska 11 votes to 9 for Parente. This was the only precinct to have been checked at noon.

It was believed unlikely that the commissioners would arrive at any final conclusions today.

The Monessen election officials told the commissioners that, besides their own misunderstanding of the instructions, they were in doubt as to what to do about abbreviations and misspellings of candidates' names.

Names Confused

In the fifth precinct of the First Ward, for example, votes were cast for just "Stieska" or sometimes "John Stieska". Some Republicans intending to vote for Parente wrote merely "Hugo".

It is up to the Board of Elections to determine which of these votes, if any, should be counted. Courts have held that where the intention of the voter is clear beyond reasonable doubt, the vote should be counted.

Stieska has not yet revealed whether he will make a campaign on the Republican ticket if he is returned the nominee.

Parente has indicated that, if he is the loser on the Republican ticket, he may petition the court for a recount.

County GOP to Choose Judge Candidate June 22

The Westmoreland County Republican Committee will choose the party's candidate for a seat on the common pleas court at a meeting in Greensburg on Saturday, June 22, it was announced today by Edwin A. Swink, chairman.

The meeting will be held at 2 p. m. in the Greensburg High School.

The county committee of each party will name a candidate for the court vacancy created by the death of Judge George H. McWherter.

These two candidates will appear on the general election ballots in November together with the two other judgeship candidates nominated by the voters at the primaries last month. Judge McWherter's death occurred too late for the nominations to be made by the voters in the primaries.

From the six candidates on the ballot, the voters will elect three judges for terms of 10 years each.

Nominated at the primaries by the Democrats were Judge Edward G. Bauer, who seeks a second term, and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco.

The two Republican nominees are Robert H. Rial and Alva N. Pershing Jr.

Helicopter Picks Up One of Two Downed Airmen

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP)—A helicopter from the aircraft carrier Valley Forge today rescued one of two Navy airmen who crashed off the Georgia coast during training exercises staged for President Eisenhower.

The rescued airman, one of two pilots whose F3H Demon jet fighters plunged into the Atlantic Thursday night when their engines failed, was spotted on a life raft shortly after dawn.

He was identified as Cmdr. John E. Tefft, commanding officer of Fighter Squadron 31 at Cecil Field, Jacksonville. Tefft is the son of Mrs. Edith Tefft of Vine Street, Northeast, Pa. His wife and three children live in Jacksonville.

There was no word from the huge air-sea rescue fleet on the fate of the other Navy pilot.

The two airmen were forced to ditch their jet fighters Thursday night after their engines failed during a routine training flight from Cecil Field, Jacksonville, Fla. The Navy said the two planes were not a part of the fleet exercise.

Sixteen of the 20 ships in the presidential task force training exercise were dispatched immediately on a massive air-sea search and rescue mission.

Word of the rescue immediately was passed to Eisenhower aboard the huge supercarrier Saratoga.

Bloom Claiming Leader's Program Is Senate Bait

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom said today that Gov. George M. Leader's legislative program was designed primarily to help the governor campaign for the U.S. Senate next year.

Bloom, in a statement, accused the governor of "concealing from the Legislature the true state of Pennsylvania's general fund finances," and of withholding "vital information" on fiscal matters.

"This is all part of the Leader administration's strategy to justify an enormously swollen budget and to try to prevent the Legislature from trimming out 94 million dollars from the appropriation requests," he said. "The governor wants to force the Legislature to put on new taxes to finance new spending programs in the last two years he is in office, all of which is designed to help him in his campaign for senator."

Judge to Take Photo Ban Under Advisement

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — U.S. District Court Judge Wallace S. Gourley held under advisement today the petition of two newspapers for an injunction against enforcement of a Westmoreland County Court order forbidding the taking of pictures in corridors of the county courthouse.

Gourley heard arguments in the case Thursday on behalf of attorneys for the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and the Greensburg Tribune-Review and for Westmoreland County Sheriff Howard Bud Thomas, who was named defendant in the action.

Counsel for the newspapers contended that the Westmoreland photo ban, issued during the trial of Turnpike slayer John Wesley Wable in 1954, was an infringement of the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press.

Attorneys for the sheriff contended the federal court was without power to enjoin a sheriff from performing his duties as instructed by the state court. They also asked dismissal of the petition on grounds that the issues already had been adjudicated in the state courts.

Seven employes and executives of the two newspapers were cited for contempt of court after they defied the ban and had pictures taken of Wable in the courthouse corridors on the day he was sentenced to death. They were convicted and given five-day jail sentences and fined.

The case was appealed to the state Supreme Court, which set aside the jail sentences, but upheld the fines and the validity of the no-picture rule of court. An appeal was filed with the U.S. Supreme Court, but it declined to hear the case.

Money Bill Is Boosted In Senate

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican senators have put their stamp of approval on a $1,111,043,000 General Appropriation Bill after adding slightly more than four million dollars to the version drafted by their party colleagues in the House.

The Senate Appropriation Committee reported the bill to the floor late Thursday to the accompaniment of Republican predictions it would receive Senate approval early next week.

Well substantiated reports indicated the GOP senators will also increase funds for industrial development by two million dollars and urban redevelopment by $2,200,000 in separate bills to bring available funds for both those purposes to $3,500,000 for the current biennium.

Unless there are further major changes before final passage, the newest figures indicated the GOP senators have succeeded in keeping the budget at very near the total fixed by their House compatriots.

The major addition granted by the Appropriation Committee was a two million dollar hike in money for occupational disease payments to 12 million dollars. This amount is still three million dollars short of what was recommended by Gov. George M. Leader.

Mental Hospitals Benefit

The state's mental hospitals and institutions for the mentally deficient benefited by an increase of slightly more than three-quarters of a million dollars, but still leaving appropriations more than 13 million dollars short of the administration's budget. The major hospitals to suffer are still Philadelphia, Norristown and the Eastern Psychiatric Institute which sustained slashes from the governor's recommendations amounting to more than seven million dollars.

Among the services for which increases were granted were: $692,262 for four tuberculosis hospitals, $30,000 to pay administrative costs of the federal school milk program; $250,000 for operation of the state police training school at Hershey; $83,000 for the Scotland School for Veterans

New Principal Is Named for Catholic School

A principal was named yesterday for the new Monongahela Valley Catholic High School to be located on the Craven Hill road in Carroll Twp.

He is the Rev. Philip A. Campbell, who has been assistant pastor at St. Mary's Church in McKees Rocks.

Father Campbell will make his residence at St. Anthony in Monongahela.

Grading work at the school site is now well underway. A spokesman said the building should be completed by next summer.

Two classes — ninth and tenth grades — are due to enroll at the school for the 1958-59 term. This fall, parochial schools in the district will add a ninth grade for one year to insure a sophomore class

LABEL GI'S TRIAL A 'BLUNDER' — Robert Dechert (center), Defense department counsel, meets with Senators Sam Ervin, (D), N. C., (left) and Ralph Flanders, (R), Vt., over the case of American GI William S. Girard. Both senators charged that the U. S. decision to surrender Girard for trial in a Japanese court was a "blunder." They said the Defense department had bowed to the will of the Japanese government.

Claim Girard Lawyers May Be Hurting Soldier's Defense

WASHINGTON (UP) — U. S. Attorney Oliver Gasch charged today that lawyers fighting for GI William S. Girard may have hurt his defense in Japanese courts by "aggressive actions" in his behalf.

Gasch, who is conducting the government's fight against a move to force Girard's return to this country, told the United Press he is "very regretful" attorneys retained by Girard's family have subpenaed all written records in the case.

Indicating the government may seek to quash the subpena, Gasch said however "it now looks as if we may have to open up the whole thing."

Army Sends Observer

At the same time, Brig. Gen. Charles L. Decker, assistant Army judge advocate general, prepared to go to Japan immediately to act as the Army's official observer in the Girard trial. Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said sending Decker reflected the Army's "interest in the case."

Gasch noted the Defense Department has been "very scrupulous" not to divulge evidence which may be used in court for fear of prejudicing the 21-year-old soldier's defense.

He added the subpena move "is not going to do Girard any good."

Among key evidence which might be disclosed is that bearing on a Japanese charge that Girard "enticed" Mrs. Naka Sakai to pick up empty shell cases on a U. S. firing range, then shot her in the back with an empty shell fired from a grenade launcher.

High U.S. officials told the United Press earlier that this question was the key issue in deciding whether to surrender Girard to the Japanese courts.

The subpena requires the government to produce in court on Tuesday all written data having anything to do with the case. It

Former Valley Woman's Will Ruled Invalid

A Washington County orphans court jury yesterday found a former Charleroi woman was incompetent to make a will involving about $30,000, mostly in cash.

The late Anna G. Weston died in 1955 after executing a will on July 29, 1953, leaving her estate equally to a brother, Glover Gay, of Charleroi, a niece, Verna Zimmerman, of Columbus, O., and a longtime friend, Beulah Eckman, of Belle Vernon, R. D. 2.

The will was contested by a sister of the dead woman, Mrs. Frances Hall, of Washington, and the latter's daughter, Marion Hall, also of Washington.

A previous will had been executed on April 9, 1953, by Mrs. Weston which, except for some charitable bequests, left the estate to the contestants to the later will.

Judge Dwight W. Anderson presided at the trial. The jury deliberated about three hours before returning its verdict late yesterday.

Barring a successful possible appeal of the verdict, the earlier will would probably become valid although a challenge to that will is also a possibility.

Boy Drowns in Twp. Reservoir

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The body of a four-year-old boy who wandered away from his home Thursday afternoon was found about eight hours later in a Penn Twp. reservoir.

Police said Joseph Arndt, Verona, had strayed through an open gate at the Oakmont Water Authority enclosure and fallen into the water.

A physician pronounced the boy dead by drowning.

Verona officers said the youngster's body was picked out by searchlights after an all day search by his parents, neighbors and volunteer firemen and police had failed to find him.

Rostraver Youth Receives $3,250

A Rostraver Twp. youth has received a $3,250 verdict in a Washington County court for injuries received on a Monongahela dance floor.

Robert Dickie Jr., of Rostraver Twp., was awarded the verdict against the Order of Owls, Nest 1657, of Monongahela.

Dickie claimed damages for injuries received when he allegedly was struck and pushed to the dance floor in the Owls Club on Oct. 31, 1954, by another patron who, Dickie claimed, was intoxicated.

Anti-polio Shots Here Next Wednesday

Anti-polio vaccine innoculations will be given to Monessen public school students next Wednesday, it was announced today by Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent.

This will be the second in a series of shots.

The inoculations will be given from 11 a. m. until 1 p. m. at the Monessen High School gymnasium, Dr. Pallone said.

Students from grades 1 through 6 must have their parents with them.

Donora Man Sent To County Jail

A Donora man was convicted of violations of the Public Assistance Act before Washington, Pa. Alderman L. E. Goodridge yesterday.

Thomas M. Oprosky was committed to Washington County Jail for cheating by false pretenses and ordered to pay a $5 fine and costs.

Maximum penalty for such a violation is $200 fine plus costs and 60 days in jail. Louis H. O'Byrne, state investigator, preferred charges.

Warships from All Over World In Hampton Roads

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—Cannons boomed in Hampton Roads today as warships from throughout the free world arrived in the Norfolk port for the beginning Saturday of the world's biggest peacetime naval review.

More than 50 ships had pulled into line for the big 10-day exhibit, and as many more are expected to be in place by Sunday.

Ships from Turkey, Italy, Denmark, Columbia, the Dominican Republic and Cuba pulled into the harbor Thursday and took their places in two facing lines along the oval-shaped port.

Naval officials waited today for the arrival of ships from Canada, Norway, Peru, Portugal and France.

Ships from Belgium, The Netherlands, Britain and Spain are expected in Saturday while the last ship, a substitute by The Netherlands, will finish the line-up on Sunday.

The United States Navy will be represented by approximately 50 ships.

Car-truck Crash Here Last Night

Slight damage resulted from a car-truck accident on Third St. last night, Monessen police reported today.

A car belonging to Fred E. Kernisky, of 313 East Schoonmaker Ave., was double parked near 310 Third St. when it was struck by a truck driver by John Sacco, of 423 Third St.

Bandits Get $28,000 At Ellwood City Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa. (UP)—Police reported today that four masked men entered the home of an elderly widow of a steel company executive during the night, bound her with sheets and looted the home of $28,000 worth of furs and jewelry, including a wrist watch valued at $20,000.

Victim of the robbery was Mrs. J. W. Offutt, whose husband was a top official of the local plant of U.S. Steel Corporation's National Tube Division until his death five years ago.

A neighbor, Mrs. Janet Huzinic, found Mrs. Offutt bound in a chair and the house ransacked when she went to the home early today, after receiving a telephone call from one of the bandits who said Mrs. Offutt was ill.

Mrs. Offutt told police she heard a noise at her door about 10:45 p.m. e.d.t. and when she investigated found a man at the entrance. He jerked open the screen door and entered, forcing Mrs. Offutt, who suffered a heart condition, back into the living room. Three other men filed in.

Mrs. Offutt said the robbers were "courteous" and asked her if she would rather be tied in a chair or in bed. The widow said she preferred to sit. One man went to a bedroom and got several sheets with which the men blindfolded Mrs. Offutt and bound her hands and feet.

Mrs. Offutt said the intruders demanded the location of a wall safe. When she told them she had none, they ransacked the 10-room house, emptying cupboards and chests, and turning over furniture.

They found the $20,000 watch, which was studded with 40 diamonds; three diamond rings, one valued at $2,500 and the others at $1,500, and a cape and a stole, both mink. They also took $18 from a purse.

Police Chief Clark W. Ricer said one of the men told Mrs. Offutt they did not want her to be "uncomfortable" all night and asked if there was someone they could telephone after leaving. She gave them the neighbor's number.

When police arrived, they called a physician. He said Mrs. Offutt

Speeding Auto Leaves Highway Near McKeesport

McEESPORT, Pa. (UP) — Five teenage boys were killed late Thursday night when their speeding automobile left a highway, caroomed off a tree and hurtled them 75 feet into a ravine.

Two other boys were seriously injured.

The accident occurred on a narrow, winding road in suburban White Oak, about 10 miles southeast of Pittsburgh.

Killed were twin brothers William and Earl Forman, 15; James Beswick, 15; Joseph Johns, 15, and James Ginther, 16, all of East McKeesport.

In serious condition at McKeesport Hospital with multiple injuries were Clifford Wessel, 16, the driver of the car; and Charles King, 15, also from East McKeesport.

Rams into Tree

Police quoted Wessel as saying that a speeding automobile had forced his car off the road.

Officers said the boys, students at East McKeesport High School, had met in a drug store 15 minutes before the fatal crash and decided to take a ride in the Wessel car.

The vehicle was traveling at a "terrific rate of speed," police said, when it left the road and rammed a tree. The impact sheared off the trunk and top of the late model hardtop car.

The auto then plunged into some trees and thick brush. The boys were tossed through the open top. Their bodies were found at the bottom of the gully.

Rider Returns To the Stand After Recess

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh cement supplier William G. Rider returns to the witness stand today to detail how Laborers Union official Nick Stirone allegedly forced him out of business with $31,274 in extortion payments.

Rider was reaching the crucial point of his testimony Thursday when a recess was called in the federal court trial of the labor leader who is accused of violating the Hobbs Racketeering Act.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Leonard Paletta said Rider would show that Stirone demanded payments of 50 cents for every cubic yard of cement moved to a construction site in Allenport. The payments, Rider has maintained, forced him out of business.

Rider told the court in his opening testimony he had never met Stirone before 1950. He said he had been in business from 1941 until 1950 as the Rider Construction Co. and formed the Rider Supply Co. in 1951. The business lasted until 1953.

The supplier said he sold ready-mixed cement to Ragnar Benson, Inc., for construction of a strip mill being biult for Pittsburgh Steel Co. in Allenport. It was on that job, according to Paletta, that the shakedown was made.

Death Toll in Truck Collision Has Reached 19

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (UP)—The death toll in a truck collision near here reached 19 today to tie the record for the nation's worst truck accident in history.

Several of the 18 persons injured when a truck loaded with migratory farm workers pulled into the path of a tractor-trailer Thursday remained in critical condition.

Doctors said the death toll could "easily" reach 20, surpassing the previous worst truck collision in American history, which killed 19 in Texas in 1947.

The latest victim, identified only as "Gary," 25 to 30 years old, died at 2 a.m. e.d.t. today in Highsmith Hospital.

Twelve of the dead, all Negroes, were pitched along the highway or into roadside weeds. Two others were burned to death in the wreckage. Five died later in hospitals.

Quintuplets Die

VILLA DE JOAO BELO, Mozambique — Quintuplets born prematurely Thursday to a native woman all died today, a spokesman for the regional hospital said.

Awaits Action As Suspect in 'Torch Slaying'

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—Leroy Magee, 39, Jamestown, N.Y., was ordered held pending grand jury action on a murder charge Thursday in connection with a "torch slaying" for which his brother now is serving a life sentence.

Magee, father of seven children, pleaded innocent at a hearing before Alderman Joseph Crecinan of Lawrence Park. Police said he had admitted helping his brother, Keith, set fire to an automobile in which George Harrington, 70, lay unconscious. An autopsy showed Harrington died of burns.

In his statement, Leroy contended he believed Harrington was already dead when the car was doused with paint thinner and set ablaze on a rural road Nov. 14, 1953.

Keith at his trial concealed Leroy's part in the slaying. He said he had slugged Harrington during a round of Erie taverns, placed the unconscious man in his car and later set the machine afire. Leroy was arrested last May 5, after Keith implicated him in a statement made in prison.

Macing Charges Denied

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The last [illegible] four present and former officials of the state Department of Highways on trial on charges of macing political contributions from state employes was to take the witness stand to deny his guilt today.

Three of the defendants maintained their innocence at the [illegible]th day of the trial Thursday and they were to be followed today by Alexander Campbell, former assistant superintendent of [illegible]kdale maintenance garage of the department.

The state in its case sought to prove the defendants forced state employes under threat of dismissal to contribute one per cent of their salary to a campaign fund to support candidates favored by [illegible]n Gov. John S. Fine in the primary elections of 1954

Denies Any Threat

Testifying in his own defense Thursday, Oscar W. Huhing, 44, McKeesport, superintendent of maintenance in Allegheny County, said he had been told by Highways Department District Engineer L. J. Curran that it would be permissible to accept voluntary contributions from employes. He denied any threat of dismissal was involved.

Curran, one of 15 originally indicted as the result of a grand jury investigation, has been exonerated of the charges.

Also swearing their innocence Thursday were Michael Hertz, foreman of the Aspinwall garage, and Thomas J. McElheny, as assistant maintenance superintendent at McKeesport.

Senate Studies Bill Splitting Up Councilmen

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Senate today considered a House-approved bill to have Pittsburgh's city councilmen elected by districts instead of on a city-wide basis.

The Republican proposal aimed at the present all - Democratic council was cleared by the House Thursday night by a 114-59 vote, along party lines.

Allegheny County assemblymen held a long debate on the bill before the rollcall, lead by Rep. Walter T Kamyk who argued the present setup of councilmen-at-large has worked so efficiently over the years that ith as been copied by other communities throughout the country.

On the Republican side, Rep. Joseph P. Rigby charged the present council is "a closed door puppet operated by one man." Rep. Maurice H. Goldstein said the measure to set up 13 councilmanic districts would result in good responsible government—not government behind closed doors."

Another Airman Is Arrested in Greece

ATHENS, Greece (UP) — U.S Air Force authorities today retained custody of the second American airman arrested within a week in automobile accidents involving Greek civilians.

Air Police arrested Airman 2-C Allen Milligan after his car knocked down cyclist Panayiotis Kapolas, 18, Thursday. Kapolas, member of a local bicycle racing club, was injured. Police said his condition was not serious.

Another American, Airman 3-C Marion Mussilli of Benwood, W. Va., was scheduled to present a written defense to manslaughter charges before a Greek magistrate's council today. He is charged in the auto death last Friday of Gen. Stafnos Sarafis, a hero of the Greek wartime resistance.

May Be Jailed

The magistrate's council will decide whether to release Musilli on bail or hold him in a Greek jail until his case comes before a local court.

Both incidents came at a touchy point in Greek-American relations. A committee of the Greek Parliament now is meeting to decide whether to ratify a new "status of forces" agreement covering civil offenses committed by American troops stationed in Greece under the NATO treaty.

The agreement would allow U.S. servicemen arrested off duty to choose between being tried by a Greek civil court or an American military court.

After last Friday's fatal accident, American authorities immediately turned Musilli over to Greek police, although they were not required to do so in the absence of a status of forces agreement.

Charges Uncertain

There was no indication whether Greek authorities would prefer charges against Milligan. Greek police, who asked release of Musilli from American custody, had made no move to arrest Milligan.

In Thursday's meeting of the parliamentary committee considering the new Greek - American forces bill, members of the opposition Liberal Party called on Premier Constantine Karamanlis' government to reject it. They said Greece should have an agreement similar to those between the United States and other NATO nations whereby Americans committing crimes off duty automatically are tried by a civil court.

Despite the two incidents here there have been no anti-American demonstrations such as those in Formosa and Japan in the cases of two U.S. servicemen charged with killing nationals of those countries.

Employed by the Westmoreland Paving Co., he was working on a job in Charleroi when he suffered the attack at 3 30 p. m. Wednesday.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ada Morris Phillips; a daughter, Mrs. Mildred P. Wood, of Washington, R. D.; a son, Russell A. Phillips, of Monessen; four grandchildren; one great-grandchild; two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Roach, of Waynesburg and Mollie Phillips, of Holbrook and three brothers, James W., Guy C., and Everett, all of Holbrook

WILLIAM W. NOVAK

Services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. for William W. Novak, of 307 East Main St., Monongahela, who died at his home, Wednesday at 11.45 a. m.

A Monongahela resident for 30 years, Mr Novak was born Aug 14, 1903. He was employed as a coal miner. He held membership in the Grace Lutheran Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs Elizabeth Hartman Novak; one son, Alexander P. Mantan; three sisters, Mrs. Josephine Trinder, of Charleroi, R. D., Mrs Frances Sulla, of Gibson and Mrs. Julia Waggoner, of Monongahela.

Friends are being received at the Francis C. Slezak Funeral Home in Charleroi.

WALSEN SERVICES

Funeral services were held this morning for Carl James Walsen, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walsen, of 325 Lenawee Ave., Monessen, who died yesterday at 6 15 a. m. in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leinberger, of Monessen and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Walsen, also of Monessen

Interment was in Monongahela Memorial Park.

Carnahan Resigns Police Job

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Lt. Allen Carnahan, former head of the city vice and narcotics squad who was suspended for a year as the result of his being wounded with his own gun in an after-hours club, resigned from the police department today.

The police officer's attorney, Louis Glasso, submitted the resignation to Director of Public Safety Louis Rosenberg. Glasso said Carnahan was quitting because he wanted to avoid further publicity and embarrassment to his family.

A police trial board recommended that Carnahan be suspended for a year last week for conduct unbecoming an officer. Carnahan was wounded in the thigh and groin at a downtown club Feb. 24th, touching off a furor which resulted in a full-scale investigation of the incident and charges that police officials sought to "cover up" the facts.

Changes Story

Carnahan at first told investigators that he shot himself accidentally. The next day, he said he was shot by Shirley Cavanaugh, a night life figure in the city with a record of prostitution.

In a third and final version of the shooting, Carnahan said he was transferring his pistol from a topcoat pocket to his holster when Shirley grabbed it. When he attempted to retrieve the gun, it discharged, wounding him.

Children and $189,000 for operation of the Transportation Division of the Public Utility Commission.

Although normally the bill would come up for full-dress debate and proposed amendments today there is a tentative agreement among Republican and Democratic leaders to postpone that phase until Monday. Republican chiefs were especially anxious to keep today's session to a minimum because most of them expect to attend the party's $100-a-ticket fund raising circus performance at the Hershey Arena tonight.

"Watchdog" on Finances

The Senate gave final approval to legislation to establish a Joint Legislative Budget Board—the so-called "watchdog" group—so the lawmakers can examine the state's financial figures more closely. The measure must be returned to the House for concurrence in a minor amendment.

The House session Thursday ran until midnight, with the night session devoted mainly to clearing some bills from the heavy work calendar and debate on measures of regional interest.

The chamber found itself stalled once again on Republiacn plans for passage of legislation providing for $31,300,000 in school subsidies because of what Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (Mc Kean) described as fight between rural counties and urban counties.

A seven-member committee was named to work for amendments which would make the bill acceptable to representatives from the larger cities who claim the reimbursement formula as drawn would be unfair to their areas.

The House approved over Democratic protests and sent to the Senate a bill to have Pittsburgh's city councilmen elected by districts instead of on a city-wide basis, and another to have the state Agriculture Department instead of county health units certify rules and regulations over production, sale and use of agricultural products.

was considerably upset, but otherwise unharmed.

Mrs. Offutt was unable to give police a detailed description of the robbers. She said one spoke with a southern accent and all were burly.

She said she heard one tell the leader:

"Hurry up, Tom, we have 200 miles to travel."

Mrs. Offutt has lived alone in her large home since the death of her husband, employing only day domestic help. She said she was preparing for bed when she heard the noise at the front door and went to investigate. The men burst in and stayed in the house for an hour.

Her husband was superintendent of the Ellwood City National Tube plant during the period when seamless tubing was developed, revolutionizing the pipe business. He was retired at the time of his death.

Jury Eavesdroppers To Face Penalties

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M. Leader today received legislation to make persons who intentionally listen or attempt to eavesdrop on jury deliberations guilty of a misdemeanor.

The violators would be subject to a $1,000 fine and up to a one-year jail term or both upon conviction. The House concurred in Senate amendments Thursday, 181-0. The amendments substituted "intentionally" for the word "knowingly."

Railroads Get Higher Fees for Freight Cars

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized increased railroad charges today against shippers who retain freight cars beyond the two days allowed for loading or unloading.

The commission authorized the railroads to file schedules providing for charges of $4 a day per car for the first four days beyond the allowed two-day "free time" and $8 a day thereafter.

It also ruled that the railroads could include Saturdays, Sundays and holidays in computing the charges after a car has been held four working days, or two days beyond "free time."

The charges can be made effective on 30 days notice.

The railroads at present charge $3 a day per car for the first four days that cars are held beyond "free time" and $6 a day thereafter.

They had asked for authority to charge $4 a day for the first two days after "free time," $7 a day for the next two and $10 a day thereafter. The commission said such rates "would be unduly burdensome to many shippers."

The ICC said the higher charges are designed to keep cars moving faster.

"Because of the continued car shortage, and the general practice of many shippers of unduly detaining cars under loads," the commission said, "we are persuaded that an increase in demurrage charges is necessary, in the public interest, for permanent application, in order to promote equipment efficiency."

Restraining Order Issued

Harrington and Earl J Carroll of New York, who has taken the case without pay because of his interest in the affair, obtained a temporary restraining order in federal district court here Thursday barring the government from turning Girard over to a Japanese court.

Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy ordered the government to show cause next Tuesday why Girard should not be returned to this country for further consideration of his controversial case. It is then that the showdown over the government records will come.

Girard, an Army specialist 3C from Ottawa, Ill., is slated to be tried in a Japanese court in August or later for killing Mrs. Sakai.

Farm Products Regulations Are Before Senate

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate today received a House-approved proposal to give the state Agriculture Department the final word on production, distribution and sale of farm products in the state.

The bipartisan measure, approved by the House 130-37 Thursday night, would limit the powers of county health units over such products by requiring their certification by the state agency.

Chief opposition came from Rep. Jules Filo (D-Allegheny) who said his county had the largest public health unit in the country, giving service "of the highest caliber." He said "it would appear the state Agriculture Department is not qualified to pass judgment on matters of public health."

Rep. Hiram G. Andrews (D-Cambria) argued the bill was designed chiefly to stabilize agricultural products and bring them into some semblance of unity. He cited the possibility of "confusion compounded" if the state's 67 counties adopted different regulations for the foodstuffs.

Princess with 'Mystery Man'

LONDON (UP—Princess Margaret showed up at the theater Thursday night with a handsome "mystery man," sparking rumors that he is the latest of her string of boy friends.

The dark-haired six-footer who helped the princess from her car and escorted her into the Westminster Theatre was totally unknown in the regular "Margaret set." No one could learn his identity.

During the performance of the play "Dear Delinquent," a comedy thriller, the mystery man repeatedly leaned over to whisper in Margaret's ear. At intermission, the couple laughed and joked.

Turnpike Trial Is Resumed

HARRISBURG (UP) — State's attorneys said today they would "get to the heart of the conspiracy" at the resumption of the trial of nine men accused of defrauding the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

District Attorney Huette F. Dowling of Dauphin County said he will call John R. Rezzolla, chief legal counsel for the state Highways Department, and Henry Kloss, liaison official between the department and the Turnpike Commission, in a Commonwealth move to prove contracts between the commission and the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading, were illegally obtained.

Thomas J. Evans, former commission chairman, and James F. Torrance, whose 10-year commission appointment expired June 4, together with three other former commission officers, are on trial for conspiracy in the negotiation of a 1955 contract with Manu-Mine for the filling of abandoned coal mines beneath the turnpike's Northeastern Extension in Lackawanna and Luzerne counties.

The state contends that Manu-Mine held a "favored" position in its dealings with the turnpike, and that through Evans, Torrance and legal counsel Theodore S. Paul, engineer John D. Paul ad finance director Paul J. McNeill —all suspended—the firm obtained the contract without required competitive bidding and without several customary provisions to insure proper execution.

Manu-Mine president Charles W. Stickler Jr., and vice president Clayton A. Landsidle also are charged with cheating by false pretenses in obtaining contracts for the mine-filling work totaling almost eight million dollars. The state contends the firm made a 100 per cent profit on the contracts.

Slow Start for State

Examination of witnesses got off to a slow start Thursday when several sidebar conferences between Judge Homer L. Kreider and attorneys for both sides and numerous objections to testimony by the 13-man defense counsel battery delayed the state's presentation of its case.

The defense objected to a reading of the oaths of office taken by Evans and Torrance by Albert E. Eberman, director of the state Bureau of Elections and Commissions. Eberman was called by the state to certify the commissioners' oaths by which the officials vowed not to "receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance or non-performance of any act or duty" pertaining to their office.

The defense also objected during the testimony of first deputy attorney general Harrington Adams, who read to the jury sections of the law creating the Turnpike Commission in 1937 and outlining its duties and powers.

It is the office of the court, the defense contended, to interpret the law to the jury.

A total of 14 objections were brought against Dowling's examination of the two witnesses. All but one was overruled. The court granted some 150 exceptions to his rulings to the defense. Each exception is potentially grounds for a new trial in the event the jury returns a verdict against the defendants.

Erie Man Killed In Auto Accident

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—Frank Massing, 24, Erie, was killed shortly after midnight today when his automobile skidded and overturned on Route 8 about eight miles south of here near Belle Valley.

Massing died instantly of a fractured skull when tossed against steel wagon wheels decorating a driveway at a home. The car upended on the lawn.

Jesus not 'Delicate', Billy Graham Says

NEW YORK (UP) — Religious art that portrays Jesus Christ as "delicate and effeminate" misses the true nature of the Man who was the living Son of God, evangelist Billy Graham said Thursday night.

He told 18,000 persons in Madison Square Garden that "This is my own opinion—you won't find any specific backing for it in the Bible."

Graham said that a 20-year study of the Bible convinced him that "Jesus was perfect morally and mentally and there's no reason to believe He was not also physically perfect."

"I believe Jesus was stronger physically than Samson," Graham said. "Nobody really knows what Jesus looked like, so is it necessary always to portray Him as a long-faced, sallow, effete person?

"Why not a robust, healthy, virile conception of Jesus? He lived a perfect life—He didn't sin so His body didn't degenerate. I think He was every inch a man."

Graham's call to his listeners to "turn around and go God's way" drew a response of 569 "decisions for Christ," bringing his New York crusade total to 13,889. Attendance at his meetings has run over 410,000.

Graham said that "hundreds of persons have written to say they were converted by reading of the crusade in their newspapers, all over the country, all over the world."

"I'm grateful for the press coverage of this crusade," Graham said. "I'm not interested in seeing my own name plastered in the newspapers, just so long as God's is there.

"God has received the glory of the coverage. I won't say whether it's to the greater glory of the United Press or the Associated Press, for they've both done a grand job."

Bridge Tourney Winners Listed

Eight tables were in play when the Magic City Bridge Club met at the Charleroi Elks last night.

North-south awards went to Dr. William Trezise, of Fayette City and Mrs. Joseph H. Carazola, of Canonsburg, first; Mrs. E. J. Feeney, of Brookline and Mrs. Frederic Feldman, of Belle Vernon, second.

East-west winners were Mrs. Glen Porter, second. All are of, enberg, first; Dave Rosenberg and Glen Porter,s econd. All are of Charleroi.

On Sunday there will be a two game session beginning at 1:30 in the afternoon at the club to raise funds for the summer nationals, which will be held in Pittsburgh.

Student Loan Fund Creation Up to Senate

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to create a student loan fund to help future state professional and technical employes complete their education movd to the state Senate today.

The House passed the Republican sponsored bill Thursday, 190-1, with only Rep. Charles A. Auker (R-Blair) objecting. The legislation was described by GOP leaders as their answer to Gov. George M. Leader's proposed higher education program entailing the award of 5,000 free college scholarships annually.

The bill would appropriate $250,000 to the State Council of Education for a student loan and fellowship fund for use by students planning to enter the engineerig, medicine, psychiatry, psychiatric, social work, public health and other technical and professional fields. The students could borrow up to $1,500 each year to a maximum of $4,500 to complete their tract agreeing to work at least education.

The students would sign a contract agreeing to work at least three years for the state and repay the loan at 2 per cent interest. If the student refused to accept state employment he would be required to repay the balance of his loan within 30 days at 4 per cent interest.

Three New Members at Post 1190

Three new members were inducted into the Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars, last night.

They are: Michael L. Maisano, Thomas McGovern and Walter Malec Jr., all of Monessen.

A resolution favoring House Bill 2201 which will give World War I veterans who reach 60 years of age a $100 a month pension, regardless of need, was approved.

The resolution will be forwarded to state VFW headquarters for further action.

A building committee was authorized to proceed with plans to remodel the Post Home.

Reports were made by Elliott Bianchi on the past post commander's banquet; Philip Columbus on Poppy Day, at which $532.27 was realized; Paul Komar on visitation of the sick in the Oakland Veterans and Charleroi Monessen hospitals.

Additional reports were given by Edward Plevel on an Eagle Scout ceremony held by Troop 3, Boy Scouts, which is sponsored by Post 1190; Commander John Hurrianko on the erection of a flag pole at the World War II Memorial in Sixth St. Park and from Walter Kwolek on activities of the building committee.

The next meeting of the Post will be held Thursday, July 11.

Pastor Named to FEPC by Leader

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has asked the state Senate to confirm his nomination of the Rev. Charles S. Spivey, 800 Cherokee St., Pittsburgh, to the Pennsylvania Fair Employment Practices Commission.

The Rev. Spivey, a Democrat, would serve until Feb. 21, 1962, succeeding Judge Homer S. Brown of Pittsburgh, who resigned.

The Real Objective Is Lasting Peace

THE QUESTION of testing nuclear weapons, which Adlai Stevenson tried to make a political issue in the presidential campaign last fall, is now getting the kind of unpartisan discussion out of which some good may come.

Scientists seem to be divided about as much as laymen on the question. Some hold, for one thing, that the radioactive fallout from the tests is not dangerous at the present rate; others say it is. The weight of expert opinion, however, seems to be on the side of the government's present policy.

In reality, however, the question is part of the larger issue of disarmament, and this is an international matter which is going to have to be worked out by politicians and diplomats, not scientists.

At his press conference on Wednesday, President Eisenhower said he would favor a total prohibition of tests of nuclear weapons, but only as part of an international agreement — backed by an inspection plan — which would prohibit the use of such weapons in any future war.

Although because of the currency of the topic this statement made headlines, it was really not very new. It is entirely consistent with the Eisenhower administration's policies, which are well known both in this country and abroad.

What the United States is working for, of course, is the abolition of war itself. What does it matter, after all, whether we kill each other with H-bombs or poisoned spears? The difference is one of degree, not of principle. So the objective of our policy must be a system by which the settlement of international disputes can be accomplished without war.

Current efforts in this direction are along the path of disarmament on the theory that if we can reduce the number of weapons in the world, we will reduce the danger of war. And since nuclear weapons are the most destructive we have, that seems like a logical place to start.

There is some feeling that the Russians are ready to do business in a limited way on disarmament. We may soon know whether they are or not.

But even if they aren't, the quest for peace has to continue along other lines. The President was eternally correct when he said, "There is no alternative to peace." No alternative, at least, that civilized men will accept.

Governor Leader A Little Naive

GOVERNOR Leader's well known idealism sometimes seems to be cancelled out by his political naivete, leaving a practical result of something like zero.

This observation would have to apply to his invitation to the members of the State Senate to go and look at two mental hospitals with him before voting any reduction in the appropriation of the Welfare Dpeartment.

Such an approach to governmental fiscal problems borders on childish irresponsibility. This is not to say that there must not be any "heart" in a budget; of course there must. And there is lots of "heart" in almost any governmental budget in America, including that of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

But any sensible adult can understand that there are practical limits to what can be done at any given time. Most parents cannot give their children everything the chidlren could possibly wear. And the superintendent of a mental hospital cannot have all the tax money he could usefully spend in a given year.

It's this way with our cities, too. We know that the City Council of Monessen cannot do in one year everything that needs to be done. The councilmen would bandrupt the city and would be thrown out on their ears at the next [illegible]

A public budget is simply an estimate on the part of the responsible officials, executive and legislative, as to what can be done with the [illegible] that can prudently be extracted from the taxpayers during the period concerned.

The present fuss at Harrisburg is essentially a difference of opinion between the Republican majorities in the Assembly and the Governor as to how much the people of Pennsylvania can reasonably be asked to cough up in the next two years — and what can be done with this much money.

If Mr. Leader is insinuating that the Republicans have less "heart" than he has when it comes to mental illness, he may find that a [illegible] difficult to prove.

But if he is asserting that the legislature must immediately correct everything that needs correcting in Pennsylvania today, he clearly lacks the maturity and stability which his office requires.

Merry-Go-Round—

How Trujillo Got Quota Increased

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Here is more of the inside story on how dictator Trujillo, sometimes called the Caesar of the Caribbean, got his quota for sugar imports into the USA increased at the expense of Louisiana, the Rocky Mountain states, Puerto Rico, Cuba, Mexico, and Peru.

Mr. Pearson

As already reported, Trujillo had enjoyed friendly relations with President Eisenhower's brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore, Secretary Dulles's son-in-law, Robert Hinshaw, and Henry Holland, ex-assistant Secretary of State for Latin America.

But although the State Department recommended an increased sugar quota, it's up to Congress to authorize it. So the proposal was sent to the House Agriculture Committee for action.

Normally, the Committee hesitates to increase foreign sugar quotas because it hurts American sugar beet and cane sugar growers. But shortly before the vote, Trujillo chartered a Pan American Clipper to fly committee members to the Dominican Republic for a royal visit.

Trujillo's Guests

There the congressmen were Trujillo's guests at the ritzy Hotel Jaragua on the seashore, toured the island in style, stopped at such places as Boca Chica, a fancy seaside resort, Hotel Hamaca, an exclusive beachclub hotel on a natural lagoon three miles long. They were wined and dined by everyone from Trujillo down, and whisked around the island in an 18-car caravan with police escort.

Chairman Harold Cooley of North Carolina was too busy to go, but sent his sister, Mrs. Mabel Downey, with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cooley, instead.

Other members of the House Agriculture Committee who accepted Trujillo's invitation were:

Rep. and Mrs. W. R. Poage (D., Tex.); Rep. and Mrs. Tom Abernethy (D., Miss.) and their two children, Tommy and Gail; Rep. and Mrs. Pat Jennings (D.-Va.); Rep. and Mrs. Henry Dixon (R., Utah); Rep. and Mrs. John Watts (D., Ky.); Rep. and Mrs. Harlan Hagen (D., Cal.); Rep. Victor Anfuso (D., N.Y.); Congresswoman Coya Knutson (D. Miss.); plus then-Congressman and Mrs. Harold Lovre (R.,-S.D.) and their daughter, Sandra.

Voted Increase

These Congressmen came back from being royally entertained by Trujillo and voted a big sugar increase for him. The Dominican Republic's sugar quota was almost doubled by Congress last year — which will mean millions in personal profit for the Dominican dictator.

Other congressmen have taken free trips to the Caribbean as Trujillo's guests and come back as apologists for his dictatorship. The list includes Sen. Olin Johnston (D., S.C.), Congresswoman Katharine St. George (R., N.Y.), Congressman Don Jackson (R. Cal.), and Congressman Bernard "Pat" Kearney (R., N.Y.). Some of these were recently given high decorations by the Dominican government, which they accepted despite the protest of Rep. Chas. Porter of Oregon.

Ike's Food Inspected

What GOP congressmen didn't know about their impromptu box luncheon with the President was that the Secret Service ran a security check on his food. He and ex-Speaker Joe Martin were handed specially marked boxes containing chicken, potato salad, etc., which had been carefully examined for possible poison.

What the congressmen did know was that Ike never exuded more political charm or savvy. If he had started exuding a couple of months earlier he might have won his battle of the budget. At this late date he probably won't.

The budget battle wasn't mentioned specifically, but the President talked about practically everything else, from his golf game to the farm program. And he made a point of calling most of the Republican congressmen by their first name.

"Why, hi there, Pat," he said to Patrick Hillings. "You've put on some weight."

"Yes, I have put on a few pounds, Mr. President," replied the Californian. "I guess it's due to the Eisenhower prosperity."

The President was particularly gregarious with freshmen GOP House members. When photographers were allowed in for pictures, he called to freshman Rep. William Broomfield of Michigan: "Come on over here and sit down here by me and get your picture taken."

Another freshmen GOP-er, Edwin H. May of Connecticut, inquired "How's your golf game, Mr. President?"

"Maybe I shouldn't answer that, Ed," Ike replied. "It could be a lot better, especially since my operation. I have managed to shoot one 78 since the operation, but most of the time I'm in the 80's. Like everyone else, I have my good and bad days."

Housing the Presidency

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

If anything adequate is going to be done about two critical aspects of the presidency, then from now to 1960 is the time to do it — perhaps the only time they can be accomplished for years to come.

The two things I refer to are:

The need to repair the dangerous black-out in the Constitution which leaves unsettled who shall decide, and how, that a President is unable to perform his duties — when the President is not able to decide himself.

Mr. Drummond

The need to provide efficient office housing, which has never been done in the past, for the necessarily expanding staff of the executive office of the President and other agencies of the White House, for a long time to come.

Can't Affect Ike

The point is that here is an opportunity for Congress to act on these urgent matters in a totally unpartisan atmosphere since nothing that is done will come in time to affect Mr. Eisenhower in any way.

It would take more than three years to ratify any amendment dealing with presidential disability.

It would take at least three years to approve and construct suitable office facilities for the executive agencies of the President, like the Bureau of the Budget.

In asking that these needs be met soon, Mr. Eisenhower is acting impersonally and impartially since his own convenience is not in the least involved.

He is acting in the interest of future Presidents, not in his own.

Mr. Eisenhower's views on how to deal with presidential disability are well known. He would like to see Congress propose an amendment which would authorize the Cabinet to determine when a President cannot perform his duties — if the President is unable to make the decision.

Urge New Building

Now comes the report of the President's Advisory Committee on Presidential Office Space, headed by Robert V. Fleming, chairman of the Riggs National Bank of Washington, and including four members of Congress, which proposes:

That a new building to house only the White House staff be built on the site of the old State, War and Navy building just across from the west wing of the White House.

That, to prevent the new building's being so large as to detract from the White House, additional office space be built across Pennsylvania Ave. behind Blair House.

That the west wing of the White House be remodeled to accommodate visiting dignitaries.

The replacement of the old State, War and Navy building would be incorporated into the White House grounds and in size and design would be in keeping with the White House itself.

The President's own office and that of his immediate assistants would remain in the west wing. There would be easy access to the new building by tunnel.

The commission studied seven different solutions, unanimously chose the foregoing as the best and a majority recommended that Congress authorize it.

For the first 110 years the offices of the President were housed in the structure designed and intended for his residence. President Theodore Roosevelt removed the principal offices from the residence part of the mansion.

For the past 50 years each recurring need for the larger and more efficient quarters for the President and his staff was met by makeshift improvisations dictated by emergencies.

There are approximately 1500 employes on the White House staff and agencies directly related to the White House. These include the staff of the National Security Council, the Bureau of the Budget, which is the administrative arm of the President, the Council of Economic Advisers, the Operations Coordination Board, the Office of Defense Mobilization.

These offices have never operated in integral office space designed for their use. Present office facilities are outmoded, overcrowded and egregiously inefficient for the management of the presidency of the United States in today's world.

Allies Seeking Better Relations with Egypt

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The chief Western allies appear to be making a series of moves aimed at improving their relations with Egypt.

Britain has released $16,800,000 in blocked credits to permit Egypt to get some badly needed goods which British dealers had contracted to send to that country before the Suez Canal crisis started.

Mr. McCann

It is reported that the United States is negotiating to release some blocked Egyptian credits also earmarked for purchases of goods.

France, though still bitter over the whole Suez situation, is reported to be ready to follow the lead of Britain and the United States and permit its ships to resume using the canal.

On the surface, all the moves mentioned seem to constitute a victory for President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, who caused an explosion in the Middle East by seizing the Suez Canal last July.

May Change Attitude

But there are indications that Nasser may be wondering whether a more reasonable attitude toward the Western powers might not pay off.

There certainly is no sign that Nasser is thinking about a fundamental change in his policies, which since the Suez Canal seizure have been anti-Western.

But Nasser received quite a setback when young King Hussein of Jordan won a victory over his political enemies, who with the active support of Nasser tried to overthrow him.

It is now reported that Nasser is having some trouble in his economic relations with Soviet Russia and its satellites.

Dispatches from Cairo say that Russia and other countries of its bloc are not delivering goods for which Egypt paid in cash. Wheat and crude oil which Russia has sent to Egypt are reported to be of mediocre quality. It is reported that some of the cotton which Egypt is sending Russia is being dumped on the world market at cut rates, to the damage of Egypt's export trade.

Loosen Red Hold

Evgeny V. Kissilev, Soviet ambassador to Egypt, left for home Tuesday after a conference with Egyptian Finance Minister Abdel Moneim Kaysouni. The official version is that Kissilev went to Moscow on his annual vacation. But there are indications that his trip home is due partly at least to Egyptian complaints over economic relations.

A United Press Cairo dispatch quoted diplomatic informants as expressing belief that Nasser would like to loosen Russia's hold on Egyptian economy by improving relations with Western countries.

Homemakers Compete For Contest Awards

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) — This week in Manhattan:

Much ado is made about the career woman who hits the top in her field. But the housewife is doing all right financially too. In some cases, better than quiz show contestants.

Gay Pauley

Consider all the lucre which is presented winners in the various home-making contests held each year.

There's the Pillsbury bake-off, when all a housewife need do is dream up a tasty recipe using half a cup or more of the company's flour and she's eligible to compete for prizes totalling $100,000. Grand prize winner walks off with a cool $25,000.

Mrs. America Contest

Or, there's the Mrs. America contest in which women are judged on their cooking, sewing, meal planning, table setting, and housekeeping.

The winner receives a $1,300 savings bond, plus fringe benefits of a new car, new equipment for kitchen and laundry, new wardrobe, a year's supply of meat, new pots and pans and two weeks vacation for herself and family in Florida.

Or, there is the Mrs. Homemaker's Forum contest held this week at Ellinor Village, Ormond Beach, Fla. Forty housewives and husbands are enjoying one week away from the dishes, all because the women submitted a prize-winning household hint to the firm which runs the contest.

Singer Sewing Contest

Right this minute in Manhattan, 33 women from the United States and Canada are sitting before sewing machines in a department store, stitching their way (they hope) to the biggest payoff of all. They are finalists in the annual Singer sewing contest. Competition involves making a dress for a fashion model — as shoppers watch. The winners will be announced next week, and top seamstress takes home $25,000.

What do the housewives do with the dough? A poll of those in the sewing contest showed the money after taxes, will help pay off the mortgage, educate the children, or underwrite a trip.

With few exceptions, the contestants also planned to purchase a mink coat!

Marlene Garafalo, John Andrus Wed

Solemnized in St. Cajetan R. C. Church on Saturday morning, June 1, at 10 o'clock was the marriage of Marlene Garafalo and John Andrus. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Garafalo, of 933 Chestnut St. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Andrus, 317 Ash St., California, Pa.

The Rev. Leonard Sanesi officiated at the nuptial mass before an altar arranged with ferns and flowers.

A white silk taffeta gown was chosen by the bride, who approached the altar with her father, who gave her in marriage. It was styled with a fitted bodice, high neckline with a mandarin collar and a full skirt accented with back tiers. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara set on a Chantilly lace cap with a tear drop pearl falling from the center. She carried a white orchid and lily of the valley arrangement atop a bridal Prayer Book.

Maid of Honor

As her maid of honor the bride chose her friend, Gloria Salotti and the bridesmaids were Eleanor Bucko and Agnes Canova, friends of the bride along with the groom's two sisters, Mrs. James Liggett and Mrs. Pete Zipkovich

All the attendants wore gowns of white nylon styled cocktail length with accordion pleated skirts, fitted bodices and lavender cumberbunds. In their hair they wore crowns of miniature orange blossoms and they carried colonial bouquets of lavender carnations. Miss Salotti's flowers were in a frontal bouquet

Patty Jo Behanna, cousin of the bride and Rhonda Liggett, niece of the bridegroom, were the flower girls. They wore dresses of pink and lavender nylon and their headpieces and flowers were miniatures of those used by the adult attendants.

James Bissell, a friend of the bridegroom, was the best man and ushers were Benny Mosco Gary Kennedy, Jim Maple and Lloyd Zeller, all friends of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride attended the ceremony attired in a dress of white lace with black and white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in navy blue silk with navy and white accessories and a red rose corsage.

Wedding Dinner

A wedding dinner was served at Johnson's restaurant and later there was a reception for about 250 guests from California, Michigan and area towns.

When the couple left for a trip to Washington D. C. the bride was wearing a yellow dress of pure silk with black accessories and a white orchid corsage. When they return they will live in California, Pa.

The bride was graduated from Monessen High School with the class of 1954 and from Robert Morris School, Pittsburgh. She is employed by Family Finance Co. of Charleroi. Her husband was graduated from California High School and is attending California State Teachers College.

Parente Proclaims 'Recreation Month'

At the instigation of the city's Recreation Department, Mayor Hugo Parente has proclaimed June as "National Recreation Month." In his proclamation, the mayor urges "all of our citizens to take advantage of the many facilities in their neighborhood to relax and refresh their lives by enjoying their favorite recreation activities as individuals, families, groups and as a community." . . . At Fayette City, there's an interesting attraction for visiting baseball teams. It seems some birds have nested in the visitors dugout and three "baby" birds keep the players entertained with their frolics . . . Bobby Bubash, the brilliant Har-Brack High pitcher, has received a four-year scholarship to Wake Forest in exchange for his baseball talents. He also has seven major league offers to mull over.

Myron Pottios and Carl Witmyer were named co-winners of the 1957 Leslie Morgan Award which goes annually to Charleroi High's outstanding athlete. Pottios is headed for Notre Dame while Witmyer plans to enroll at Miami . . . Joe Margoneri, former South Huntingdon athlete from Smithton, has been optioned to Minneapolis by the New York Giants . . . The nation's top motorcycle riders will converge on Heidelberg Raceway tomorrow and Sunday in an attempt to set a new world's ten mile record. The betting is that one of them will do it, too.

MHS Training Camp Was Just That

Thomas Preston, Monessen High's sports historian, was on hand earlier this week to help honor the former Greyhound coach, Stewart Townsend, who is retiring. The occasion prompted Preston to recall this information: "Back in Towney's day the Monessen football team used to train for two weeks at Pt. Marion. The boys would pitch their own tents on a level plot. I recall that part of our camp was in West Virginia, so we actually covered two states. Usually about 30 boys took part in the camp workouts. The facilities were poor, but everyone seemed to enjoy the experience. It was camping in a literal sense."

"Stan Musial is popular everywhere." So assures Harry Caray, the veteran St. Louis Cardinal radio announcer. "It's the same everywhere the Cards go. He always gets a big hand in every ball park. I can't recall any other big league player in my time who was more popular than Stan." . . . Bob Hoyer, who was in charge of these sports pages some years back, is now with the Indianapolis Times. He authored one of the feature stories on the big Memorial Day race . . . Monongahela High, whose sports fortunes have sagged in recent years, graduated its biggest senior class the other night, 225.

Bechdel, Cage Official, Visits City

In town on business the other day was Bill Bechdel, a popular basketball official hereabouts before moving to Johnstown. Bill reports that he's booked to work five of the six regularly scheduled high school games in the Johnstown War Memorial next season . . . Tom D'Errico, the city's new Recreation Director, is no stranger to the Monessen sports scene. He was quite a wrestler during his high school days. During 52 months in the Navy he took up boxing and continued as an amateur for the Ravens Club. He's also quite a softballer in the City League. So Tom appears to have the credentials for a top-flight recreation boss. He holds a degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

Thomson Relates Golf Interest in Air Force

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—That thing you see "off in the wild blue yonder" is a golf ball.

That's the word from long-hitting Jimmy Thomson, the one-time tournament ace just back from a five-week clinical teaching tour for the Air Force. The slugging Scot hit 12 bases in France, Germany, England and North Africa and came home amazed.

"I've never seen such interest," he says, "and they don't just want to see a pro hit a ball. They want to know how and why, so they can do it themselves."

And, from the questions aimed at him during a half-hour daily question and answer period, Jimmy could tell that all eyes were turned homeward. Because the two most repeated questions were:

—Is Ben Hogan still a threat in the U.S. Open?

—Who's going to be the best of the young golfers?

Three To Beat

"I told them that Hogan, Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff still are the three men you've got to beat to win the Open," Jimmy says. "And that the new leader would come from among such as Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak, Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler, Mike Fetchik or Jay Hebert."

Thomson, national manager of golf promotion for A. G. Spalding, cherishes two memories in particular from this trip.

One was that in London, prior to the British Amateur, he played a round with Air Force Sgt. Harold Ridgeley who finished a dark horse runner-up in that tournament. The other was that he took off two days for a surprise visit to his parents in North Berwick, Scotland, whom he hadn't seen in 10 years.

"Ridgeley is a real fine player and a classy guy," Thomson relates. "We commented that he had the game to cause a lot of trouble in the British Amateur and he sure did."

Dad Still Teaches

A nephew of Jack White, who won the British Open in 1904, Thomson also is the son of a pro. His dad, Wilfred Thomson, operates the North Berwick Golf Club and, at 72, still teaches on the Scottish moors.

Army women, he noticed, are more wholeheartedly devoted to the game than their stay-at-home American sisters.

"Maybe it's because there is so much less to do," he said, "but, whatever the reason, it seems that almost everybody at the Air Force bases plays golf, from the privates right on up to the generals—and their wives."

Ridgeley, the man who went all the way to the finals of the British Amateur, is a good example. And, with courses and driving ranges at every base, the Air Force really has the ball off in the wild blue yonder.

Katsuleris in Tourney Win

Monessen's Mary Katsuleris and her doubles partner, Karlene Linton, advanced in the Metropolitan tennis tournament at Mt. Lebanon yesterday. They defeated Linda Weir and Caro Lawrence, 6-2 and 6-2.

PNA Nips ULBA in Softball

PNA nipped ULBA, 8-7, in a City Softball League game last night which saved all of the excitement for the last inning.

The two teams went into the final frame squared away at 4-4.

ULBA appeared to wrap things up by scoring three runs in its half of the seventh. However PNA came storming back.

Four walks, plus a double by Joe Gladys and two additional singles accounted for the PNA outburst.

Shorty Skowronski and Tom Kovach each had two hits for the winners. Dick Schilling and Bill Makinen had a pair each for ULBA.

Tonight's City League attraction will send MPSA aainst the Myfords.

VFW Elks Hold to Little League Lead

VFW and the Elks stayed atop their respective divisions in the Monessen Little League last night.

VFW blasted the Ravens, 12-5, in the American Division while the Elks handled the Lions, 13-7, in the National Division.

In other games, Legion tripped CIO, 8-4, while Page Local and Park Service battled to a 14-14 tie.

VFW continued its great hitting, slamming out 17 safeties. Dick Steele had a double and three singles while Bob Beveridge contributed a triple and two singles.

The losers were able to collect only six hits off of VFW hurler Bud Beeler.

Suspend Game

The Page Local-Park Service game was suspended because of darkness after four innings with the score tied 14-14.

It was a wild game with Page Local scoring nine runs in the fourth and Park Service coming right back with ten in its half. Thus 19 runs in all came across during the fourth inning.

Somehow Park Service scored 14 times on four hits. Jim Saxon had a triple and single for Park Service while Wayne Ciepiela and Barry Yagodich had a triple and two singles each for Page Local.

Elks paraded six runs across in the third inning to insure the game against the Lions.

Dick Kunsa had a double and two singles to pace the victors. Larry Davis tossed four hit ball to pick up the win.

Fayer Hot

Butch Fayer had three doubles to pace the Legion win. Gary Bello chipped in with a double and single.

For CIO, Terry DelRosso led the attack with a pair of singles.

The regular LL schedule shows no games tonight, but a couple of suspended games may be staged if the respective managers agree.

Last night's line scores follow:

Seeks to Stop Race Track Strike

YONKERS, N.Y. (UP)—Martin Tananbaum, president of Yonkers Raceway, today asked the Standardbred Owners Assn. to "reconsider their ill-advised decision" to call a strike next week because of a dispute over purse distribution.

Members of the SOA notified officials of the local harness racing track that if their demands are not reached they will not enter horses for next Friday's program. Entries for that day normally would be made next Monday morning.

The horsemen have asked that their share of the purses be increased from 35 to 45 per cent of the track's percentage.

Lions Top PONY Standings

Lions moved quickly to the top of the PONY League standings last night by tripping the Eagles, 6-3, for their second straight win of the season.

In another tussle, the Ravens topped CIO, 13-5.

Tony Romasco was the big star for the Lions. He slammed two home runs and pitched steady eight-hit ball to star all-around. Nicksich chipped in with a pair of doubles.

For the losers, Carl Laszewski and Richard Bass each came through with a pair of doubles.

Maul CIO

The Ravens made the most of seven hits to maul CIO, 13-5. The winners scored in every inning.

Ken DiGiacomo slammed a double and starred on the mound by pitching a two-hitter.

For CIO, John Fedarko collected two hits.

Two games are on tap tonight. Lions will meet CIO while the Eagles will take on the Ravens.

Makes Plans for Vulcan Drive

The Vulcan Quarterback Club of California State Teachers College mapped plans last night for an extensive membership campaign.

The Club, whose object is to aid needy students, has spent more more than $30,000 toward that end in recent years.

Dr. Michael Duda, president of the college, played host to last night's dinner meeting.

It was pointed out that the Club doesn't confine its assistance to athletes. Other "needy" students are also assisted.

Membership fee will again be $10. That will entitle the member to many special privileges, including admission to CSTC sports events.

Last year, the Club membership totalled 286. It is hoped that "at least" 1,000 will ben enrolled in the upcoming drive.

Those present at last night's meeting were:

Miss Margaret McCrory, Thomas Brown, Dr. Michael Duda, J. Olan Yarnall, Adam Koncik, Robert Conaway, Dr. Joseph C. Downey, Olen S. E. Conrad, John Cairms, William J. Sochina, David Page, Fran Buscanics, John Bunardzya, William E. Hess, Thomas Gilland.

J. M. Blair, Andy Sepsi, Frank Remy Jr., Harold McCleary, John W. Edwards Jr., Margaret Edwards, Ted Nemeth, Charles Keller, and John W. Edwards Sr.

Ozarks Show at Donora Tonight

Seek to Regain Winning Form In Mon Valley Baseball Play

Monessen's in-and-out Ozarks will travel to Donora tonight for a Mon Valley League assignment.

The Ozarks are currently sixth in the MVL standings, but a couple of wins will move them back into the first division in a hurry.

So far the Monessen trouble has been obvious. The Ozarks simply don't have any pitching depth. They have to rely almost entirely on Bill Mitnick.

Mitnick, who pitched and won last Monday, should be ready to take on the Donorans tonight.

The Donora boys have proved the surprise team thus far. They are fourth in the standings with a seven and six record.

Different Story

In recent years, the Donora entry has clowned through many MVL games. But that's not the case this season.

At the Donora helm is Harry Sickels, a taskmaster from way back who wants in the playoffs. And the betting is that Donora will make it.

Other MVL tussles tonight will send Fayette City to Van Voorhis, New Eagle to Charleroi and West Newton to Perryopolis.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Another Swing

On shots where the ball lies higher than the feet, you will be forced to stand farther away from the ball than you normally would.

Hence your swing will be flatter than usual. To make contact with the ball, swing in a definite inside-to-outside pattern I think you will readily see the near-impossibility of cutting across a shot in this situation. In addition, the follow through will naturally be in a sort of circular pattern, brought about by the flat swing.

All these factors tend to produce a hook or pull, or a combination of the two.

The simplest solution here is to allow for a considerable left draw before you go ahead and hit the shot. If the shot situation does not allow room enough to play for this hook-pull, open the clubface and make the shot with the hands staying ahead of the clubhead

For this, as for all uneven lies, you will have to use an altered swing. So take two or three practice swings under similar shot conditions and get the new swing pattern fixed in your mind before making the shot.

Cub-Dodger Tilt Called Because Of Heavy Fog

BROOKLYN (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are sure today they could react to Los Angeles' famed smog as if they never left home.

The Dodgers haven't left Brooklyn—not yet, at least—but they know all about smog. They and the Chicago Cubs got lost for an hour and 26 minutes in it Thursday night before the umpires called off their game at Ebbets Field

Officially, the umpires called it off because everybody was in a fog And, for once, Dodger President Walter O'Malley—the fellow who's had all Brooklyn in a fog for the last month — couldn't be blamed The Weather Bureau reported it was a general condition that enveloped New York City and curtailed movements at airports, highways, etc.

The mist had already started to creep in over the field when the game started and it became so bad in the second inning that left-fielder Bob Speake of the Cubs let a routine fly ball by Charley Neal drop for a double.

Couldn't Find It

At this point, infielder Bobby Morgan turned to umpire Dusty Boggess and pleaded. "Call time, it's so bad out here this inning will never end if they keep hitting the ball in the air."

"I knew the ball was up there somewhere," said a perplexed Speake "But I just couldn't find it"

Responding to Morgan's request, Boggess called time and umpire Ken Burkhart, working behind the plate, held up the contest after a conference with managers Bob Scheffing and Walt Alston. After an hour and 26-minutes the umpires went looking for each other again and decided enough was too much.

The official end came when Tex Rickard, Brooklyn's double-talking public address announcer, advised "This game is being called pending the results of the fog."

No one could say for sure but it was believed the estimated 5,000 fans groping about the stands went home

Archie Moore Is Suspended by NBA

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—Archie Moore, who has successfully avoided defending his light-heavyweight crown for a year, was slapped with a suspension today by National Boxing Assn. President Floyd Stevens.

Stevens said that Moore now must defend the title by July 7 or it will be vacated by the NBA.

"And I don't mean just sign for a defense by July 7," Stevens said. "We're going through with our decision of a month ago."

At that time Moore was given an additional period to pare pounds from his 200-plus frame to the 175-pound light heavy limit. Moore has been in Germany barnstorming and has demanded a $100,000 guarantee.

The goateed performer appeared to have signed to defend tonight against Tony Anthony, the No. 1 challenger, when Moore was in Detroit in Marh. But later Moore said he only faked signing the pact for the benefit of photographers.

Wiffi Smith Takes Lead in Ladies PGA

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Professional newcomer Wiffi Smith, a freckle-faced lass with a "near magic" putter who shattered men's par to set a course record, took a one-stroke lead today into the second round of the Ladies' PGA championship.

The 1956 British and French Amateur titlist from St. Clair, Mich., showed her heels to 25 of the nation's top women golfers Thursday by blasting a 2-under-par 68 over the creek and woodland-marked Churchill Valley Country Club course.

Miss Smith, who turned pro just last February after 10 years on the links, fired a 4-under-par 32 on the front nine and shrugged off a pair of bogeys after making the turn.

Long Putts

Dropping six and eight-foot putts with unconcern to score four birdies on the first nine, her first round card was good enough to establish a low for the 5,761-yard layout and keep her a stroke ahead of the 69s posted by defending LPGA champion Marlene Bauer Hagge, Ruth Jessen and Louise Suggs.

Mrs Hagge, playing out of Dallas, Tex., was even with the 20-year-old pace-setter at the end of nie holes, held steady most of the backstretch and needed only a par 4 on the 18th for what would have been a tying 68 first-round score. But her second shot landed in a sand trap and she took two putts to hole out after chipping to within 10 feet of the pin.

Minor Surprise

The first-day showing of Miss Jessen, Seattle, Wash., was a minor surprise. She was the first to tee off and led all early finishers with her 69 until Miss Smith "came home hot."

Other low first-round scores were posted by Mickey Wright, San Diego, Calif., and Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., both 71; Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., and Betty Dodd, San Antonio, with 72; and Vonnie Colby, Hollywood, Fla., Beverly Hanson, Indio, Calif., and Joyce Ziske, Waterford, Wis, all with 73.

Fullmer Meets Jones Tonight

CHICAGO (UP) — A unique three-way fight takes place in Chicago Stadium tonight when ex-champ Gene Fullmer tangles with middleweight Ralph (Tiger) Jones while both battle the image of current title holder Sugar Ray Robinson

Fullmer grabbed the middleweight crown from Robinson some time back, then relinquished it last month when Robinson unleashed a single left hook that sent Fullmer sprawling. Fullmer admitted he "never knew what hit" him

Jones whipped Robinson in a non-title fight back in January, 1955, but never got a championship bid.

So now Fullmer, trying to make his way back up to Robinson, and Jones, who never quite got there in the first place, take on one another in a 10-round nationally-televised 160-pound match.

"Robinson told us when we were in New York that he didn't care to have another fight with Gene," Marv Jensen, Fullmer's manager, said. "I guess it's just as well Gene likes to fight, because he's probably going to have to do quite a bit of it before he'll ever get another crack at the title."

Jones, on the other hand, thought his title bid was long overdue.

"We should have had a crack at Robinson right after we beat him that first time," Jcak Friday, Jones' trainer, said.

Jensen said the only reason he agreed to have Fullmer fight so soon after the Robinson match was that he wanted "to keep Gene in the spotlight. The only way he can get the title back is to keep moving and keep winning"

Offer Big TV Deal in New York

NEW YORK (UP) — Max Kantor, a New York television operator, disclosed a $5,000,000-a-year pay-as-you-see television offer to the Giants and Dodgers today if they remain here.

Kantor, president of the Industrial Television Co., said he had sent telegrams to Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, and Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, last Monday. Since they had not acknowledged receipt of the telegrams, Kantor said he was making the offer public.

The Giants and Dodgers reportedly have shown greater interest in moving their clubs to the West Coast because of an offer of $2,000,000 to each by the Skiatron Corp. to televise all home games on a similar pay-as-you-see basis.

Under Kantor's proposal, each club would receive $2,500,000 for the same deal. Kantor said that he was interested in making the same offer to the New York Yankees for rights to their games.

President James Monroe was said to be the last man in public life in the United States to wear knee trousers.

Pirates Bow to Cards, 6 to 0

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates dropped a 6-0 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday in the final of a three-game series at Forbes Field.

Two "old" men worked the mastery on Pittsburgh. Murry Dickson, at 40, held the Pirates to six hits while Stan Musial, 36, knocked in two runs. He hit a pair of doubles to more than insure the victory.

The Cardinals knocked out loser Ronnie Kline in the second inning with a three-run barrage that featured a 400-foot home run by Del Ennis and a double by victor Dickson. Musial knocked in his two tallies in the sixth after Don Glasingame's single brought in Eddie Kasko.

Dickson's victory evened up his chart at 2-2. It was Kline's eighth defeat against only one victory.

The Bucs open a four-game series against the Milwaukee Braves this evening. Bob Purkey (4-3) goes for Pittsburgh against Warren Spahn (5-3).

Robinson Walks Out of Fight Talks in Huff

NEW YORK (UP)—Sugar Ray Robinson declared angrily today, "I won't do any more business with the IBC until they pay me for my pictures, even if (Carmen) Basilio is signed to fight me"

The middleweight champion's wrath about alleged non-payment of movie money for a previous bout has stymied negotiations for his title defense against welterweight champion Basilio at the Polo Grounds, probably Sept. 17

Basilio, the 147-pound ruler, signed Thursday to challenge for Robinson's 160-pound crown, and he agreed to take 25 per cent of all net receipts — which are expected to exceed $1,000,000

But Robinson had a stormy session with promoter Jim Norris at sunset and he left the International Boxing Club in a huff.

Norris Knows

Sugar Ray emphasized, "Norris knows what percentage I'll want—when we get this picture business straightened out I told him two weeks ago I wouldn't take less than 45 per cent—no matter what Basilio got"

Thursday night Norris indicated he was willing to give Robinson 40 per cent of all net receipts—from the net gate, theater television and movies. He expects the gross gate to exceed the $767,626 drawn by Robinson and Randy Turpin at the Polo Grounds in 1951, and the TV money to exceed $250,000.

Phillies Clobber Redlegs to Tighten NL Pennant Race Again

By FRED DOWN

Robin Roberts gave the Philadelphia Phillies' long-shot pennant hopes a "shot in the arm" today with proof he can still win the big ones.

The 30-year-old right hander came through with a sharp eight-hitter Thursday night to give the Phillies a 6-2 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. The victory moved the Phillies to within 1½ games of first-place Cincinnati.

The St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-0, and the New York Giants downed the Braves, 2-0, in the other National League games. Chicago at Brooklyn was called off after an inning and a half when a dense fog enveloped Ebbets Field and made it impossible to follow the ball.

Chisox Maintain Lead

The Chicago White Sox maintained their five-game American League lead with a 3-2 win over the Boston Red Sox while the second-place New York Yankees also made it four straight victories when they routed the Cleveland Indians, 14-5. The Detroit Tigers beat the Washington Senators, 7-6, and the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Kansas City A's, 8-3, in other A L. activity.

Roberts was backed by a 10-hit attack that included homers by Stan Lopata, Bob Bowman and Rip Repulski. Don Gross suffered his second defeat.

Stan Musial whacked two doubles to raise his average to .361 and take over the N.L. batting lead. St. Louis' 41-year-old Murry Dickson pitched a six-hitter and contributed two hits to the Cardi- Sox to overcome a 2-1 deficit and present 35-year-old Jim Wilson with his sixth victory. Wilson limited the Red Sox to seven hits and struck out five. He hurled the fourth straight complete game by a White Sox pitcher. Dave Sisler was the loser.

Mantle Hits 13th Homer

nifty four-hitter that paved the way for the Braves' fifth loss in seven games. Red Schoendienst walloped his eighth homer of the year for the Giants. Bob Buhl, a four-game winner, suffered his second defeat.

Minnie Minoso's two-run seventh Kline his eighth loss.

Ruben Gomez became the N.L.'s first seven-game winner with a nals' 12-hit attack that dealt Ron inning homer enabled the White

Bill Skowron knocked in five runs with four hits and Mickey Mantle clubbed his 13th homer of the year to lead the Yankees' season-high assault of 20 hits on five Cleveland pitchers. Johnny Kucks went the distance for the Yankees to win his fifth decision.

Frank House homered in the eighth inning to give the Tigers their winning run after relief pitcher Lou Sleater scored the tieing run in the seventh. Billy Hoeft also homered for Detroit while Roy Sievers, American League RBI leader, slugged his 11th round-tripper for the Senators. The win was Sleater's second.

Home runs by Billy Gardner and Bob Nieman sparked Baltimore's nine-hit attack which enabled Connie Johnson to gain credit for his fourth win. Ned Garver was tagged with his fourth defeat. Bob Cerv homered for the Athletics.

Minor, Prep Leaguers Will Register Monday

Registration for Monessen's Minor and Prep League baseball programs will take place next Monday.

John Dacko, popular assistant basketball coach at Monessen High, will be in charge of both leagues.

As usual, the two circuits will operate under the Recreation Department.

The Minor Leaguers — boys 8 through 11 — will register Monday at 9 a. m. at Memorial Stadium Annex. This season, all Minor Leaguers will be fully uniformed.

The Prep Leaguers — boys 15 through 17 — will register at Ninth Street at 12:30 p. m.

Charleroi Blanks New Eagle, 4-0

Charleroi blanked New Eagle, 4-0, in Mon Valley League baseball action last night to advance to the top of the standings.

Carl Witmyer, a teen-ager, tossed a fine three-hit shutout. He fanned six and was never in trouble

Walt Ciepley led the winners at bat with three hits, driving in two runs. Jess Leach collected two of the losers three safeties.

Washington Twp. Lions Club in Meeting Here

The Washington Township Lions Club met on Wednesday at the Marion Presbyterian Church. Invocation was by Ewing Trickett. Harry Stickel, president, was in charge.

The men received thanks for a donation to the Beacon Lodge Camp for the blind.

Emil Dolfi, Charles Miller and James Jesick gave reports on the state convention in Scranton in May. Anthony Wiseman reported on the birthday calendar project for which the deadline is Sept. 1.

Jesick reported on the annual carnival which will be held the week of July 29 to Aug. 3, at the lot in back of Conway's.

Miller reported on plans for the installation of officers to be held at the Blue Top Hotel, June 19, as a Ladies Night.

The next board meeting will be held at the home of Harry Stickel instead of at Eugene Conway's as originally announced.

Ted Bishop was program chairman for the evening and the guest speaker was Paul Totten, division superintendent of the Pittsburgh Steel Allenport Division. He talked on the operation of the strip mill at Allenport.

A trip to the mill scheduled for the evening for the men and their wives had to be cancelled when operations at the plant were curtailed. It will be rescheduled in the Fall.

Farewell Party Last Evening

A farewell party held last evening at the home of Sue Ann Mancuso honored Joan Madigan, who will leave today for her new home in Washington, Pa.

A group of friends enjoyed games after which luncheon was served. Centering the buffet table was a large cake bearing the inscription, "Good Luck Joan".

There were 16 guests in attendance.

Camera Club on Cruise of River

Members of the Belle Vernon Camera Club were guests of the Marine Sales and Service Co. on Sunday for a cabin cruise on the Monongahela river.

Operating the boats were Dick Hiernaux, Boots McCormick, Wilbur Crow and Tom Conti.

The members took many pictures, which will be made into color slides for the PSA Journal in a later edition. Luncheon was served on board the boats.

Triad Scout Committee in First Meeting of the Year

The Triad Girl Scout Neighborhood committee was entertained for the first meeting of the 1956-57 season on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bert Fecsen.

Mrs. Dorothy Hawk, newly elected president, was in charge of the business session and plans were discussed for a "cook out" for those who attended the adult training classes.

It was reported that Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 44 held a cookout at the home of the co-leader, Mrs. Helen Serwinski. Troop 48 will have a cook-out under the direction of the leader, Mrs. Dorothy Rex. It will be at the home of Mrs. Mary Braddock.

Several new women have been added to the Troop and Triad personnel. Ruth Wilson will be the new leader of Troop 28 and Mary Fedora will be the new co-leader to Elsie Adamec of Troop 10. Dorothy Lowry will be co-leader of Troop 48. Sylvia Huntley was assigned to Troop 11 and Justine Nogy to Brownie Troop 10 with Virginia Razzando as co-leader.

Rose Parshall, leader of Brownie Troop 50, will "fly-up" with her Brownies to an intermediate troop and will have as her co-leader, Doris Madlenka.

Mrs. Gwen Mitchell is the new Region Three officer.

Additional members to Triad are Evelyn Stump, Margaret Pozum, Honor Hamer, Irene Bonnell, Sylvia Huntley, Doris Jedrziewski and Virginia Razzando.

The Triad group will not meet again until Fall and then regular meetings will be held each second month. The September meeting will be at the home of Helen Serwinski.

Loyal Women's Class Meets at Christian Church

The members of the Loyal Women's Class of the First Christian Church met on Tuesday evening in the church social rooms with Mrs. Cora Mills as devotional leader and the vice president, Mrs. Jack Frazier, in charge. The president, Mrs. John Cadman, was ill.

Mrs. Mills took the scripture from Psalms and then read a sermon written by the Rev. J. Paulson and titled, "The Little Church on Main Street". She also read an article, "The Bread of Life" and concluded the devotions with prayer.

The surprise package was won by Mrs. Jennie Bowen. Cards were sent to the ill members.

Plans were made for the July meeting with Mrs. Mary Price as hostess assisted by Mrs. Frazier. Mrs. Sue LeComte will be devotional leader.

The hostesses, Mrs. Millie Wilkinson and Mrs. Evelyn Nichols served luncheon.

Happiness Club At Carley Home

The Happiness Club met at the home of Violet Carley in North Charleroi yesterday afternoon.

Cards were played and the high score winner was Annie Craig.

After play the hostess served luncheon.

Patriotic Order Plans Grocery Party Meeting

The Patriotic Order of America met for the June session on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bertha MacDonald, on Main St. Mrs. Mabel Yeaton, acting chaplain, conducted the devotional period and Mrs. MacDonald, president, was in charge.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Yeaton has been appointed district president by State President Ida L. Nonemaker. Mrs. Yeaton also attended the annual State Convention at Reading and gave a report on this activity. Next year the convention will be held at Scranton.

Plans were made for a grocery party to be held at the next meeting.

Games were played and those winning prizes were Mrs. Mary Chalfant, Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Yeaton, Mrs. Nora Pro, Mrs. Alice Smith and Mrs. Rhonda Cramer.

Luncheon concluded the afternoon.

Young People to Be Confirmed Sunday

A class of young people will be confirmed at the Lynnwood Lutheran Church on Sunday at the 11 a. m. worship service and on the Sunday following the group will receive Holy Communion.

In the class will be Terry Greuser, Judy Salay, Beverly Shaffer, Joyce Price, Louis Marinos, Louis Atkinson, William Klanchar and George Budd.

Attends Meeting of Hairdressers Assn.

Mrs. Clara Rocchino, of Belle Vernon, recently attended a district meeting of the Pennsylvania Hairdressers Association at the Vogue Terrace, near McKeesport.

It was a dinner session marking the 25th anniversary of the organization and was concluded with several classes. Mrs. Rocchino attended a class conducted by a member of the hair fashions committee.

Catholic Daughters Plan Installation

Installation of Senior Court Catholic Daughters of America officers will take place on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at St. Sebastian Church.

The program and social time will follow in the church hall.

'Tie-in' Sales May Be Outlawed

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to curb the practice of so-called "tie-in" magazine sales was before the state Senate today.

The House unanimously passed a bill Wednesday, 194-0, to levy a $500 fine on distributors who require retailers to buy one publication to get another more desirable magazine. The legislation is part of two bills aimed at restricting the sale of obscene literature in Pennsylvania.

The bill also carries up to a one year jail term upon conviction. The House earlier passed the companion measure to increase the fine for transporting of obscene material from $500 to $2,000. Both bills are now in the Senate.

REDUCED FROM 395 TO 180 LBS. — 180-pound Vincent Ignatowski, 58, displays a photo of himself at his former 395 pounds as his tailor, W. Cipiela, measures the Ignatowski girth in Baltimore. The girth is slimmed down from 72 to 38 inches. Ignatowski got determined, spent two months in a hospital. His obesity is caused by "Pickwickian syndrome," a condition named after Dickens character. He'll have to diet the rest of his life or he'll lard right up again.

Red-Finnish Talks

HELSINKI, Finland (UP)—Visiting Soviet leaders Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party chief Nikita Khrushchev begin talks with Finnish officials today with emphasis expected to be on increased trade between the two countries.

Bulganin set the tone for the talks Thursday night when he said more trade would strengthen present friendly relations between Russia and Finland.

The officials scheduled discussions for the morning, to be followed by visits to a children's hospital and a housing development, and a reception and state banquet later on.

The Soviet leaders, the first top Russian party officials to visit a non-Communist country since last fall's Hungarian uprising, arrived Thursday. They were given the red-carpet treatment by top Finnish government officials.

At a dinner given by Finnish Premier V. J. Sukselainen Thursday night, Bulganin made it quite clear that the Soviets placed trade at the top of the agenda for discussion.

"The more our trade develops," he said, "the more fruitful will become our collaboration in political, economic, scientific, technological and other areas, and the firmer will be our good neighborly relations in which our two peoples are interested."

Bulganin said that "We consider that for the further development of relations between our countries, there are favorable prospects which must be utilized as widely as possible."

Kiss and Make Up

CAIRO (UP)—The government newspaper Al Gomhouria reported today in a Washington dispatch that Britain and Egypt may resume diplomatic relations before the end of the month.

Bakery Workers to Face New Accusations

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Bakery Workers Union, whose Chicago locals bought Cadillacs and Buicks for top union officials, faced new charges from Senate investigators today about its New York and Los Angeles locals.

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy of the Senate Labor Rackets Committee said today's session would investigate a testimonial dinner in New York for Union Vice President Max Kralstein which involved "relations between the union and management."

He said the Los Angeles investigation involved misuse of union funds.

Questions Facing Official

Kennedy said Union President James G. Cross would testify today or Saturday, presumably about:

—A $6,500 Cadillac he allegedly got from union funds which were earmarked for "organizing."

—A $200 "strike donation" money order which an investigator said was sent by former Union Vice President George T. Stuart to a woman not on the union payroll —Mrs. E. K. Thorpe of Los Angeles, also known as Key Lower.

Kennedy told newsmen he did not expect Cross to invoke the Fifth Amendment.

Stuart, who recently resigned under fire, invoked the Fifth Amendment some two dozen times Thursday. He refused even to admit any connection with the union despite committee charges that he spent more than $40,000 in dues money for personal items.

The AFL-CIO Practices Committee currently is investigating charges that Cross and Stuart misused union funds.

Committee investigator George M. Kopecky testified that Chicago locals 100 and 300—which merged last year to form Local 1—bought five expensive automobiles for Stuart and Cross at a cost of more than $17,000.

Anthony Conforti, the former business agent and treasurer of Local 300 who is now president of Local 1, testified that the executive boards of the locals voted to buy Cadillacs for Stuart and Cross instead of going to the trouble of organizing testimonial dinners for them.

Ike Watches Air-Sea Search for Navy Jets; Exercises Interrupted

ABOARD THE U. S. S. SARATOGA (UP) — The huge supercarrier Saratoga carrying President Eisenhower and three cabinet members curtailed training exercises today to put 16 planes into the mass air-sea search for two downed Navy jet fighters.

Sixteen naval vessels left the task force surrounding the Saratoga to search for two F3H Demon jet fighter pilots who were on a routine training flight from Cecil Field, Jacksonville, Fla., when their planes' engines failed and they plunged into the sea.

Unless the search ends early today the President and the accompanying top federal officials who make up the National Security Council will be unable to witness an anti-submarine exercise conducted by sonar-equipped helicopters from the carrier Valley Forge or surface-to-air firing of Terrier guided missiles fom the cruiser Boston this morning. Both of these vessels were assigned to rescue duty during the night.

Wreckage Sighting Reported

The task group of which the 60,000-ton Saratoga was a part consisted of 19 ships when it left Mayport, Fla., Thursday. Task force Commander Admiral Robert B. Pirie aboard the Saratoga during the night ordered 16 ships including a submarine to head toward an area east of Savannah, Georgia, where a merchant ship and an Air Force plane had reported sighting wreckage of the planes.

The President was scheduled to return to Mayport this afternoon to fly back to Washington. He planned to make an important political speech to a big Republican rally in the capital later this afternoon.

The President accompanied by two plane loads of top administration officials flew to Florida Thursday morning from Washington. The presidential party includes Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

Rain Hinders Training

The President still expected to witness training exercises involving missiles launched by the Saratoga. The exercise called for launching a Navy ship-to-shore Regulus medium range guided missile which for this occasion was to be rigged as a drone.

Before turning in Thursday night the President watched after dark operations of jet fighters taking off and landing under difficult weather conditions. Biting rain squalls laced the four-acre Saratoga flight deck repeatedly and as a result the "Big Sara" cancelled most of the night schedule, putting only four planes into the air.

State GOP in Circus Showing In Hershey Arena

HERSHEY, Pa. (UP) — The "Greatest GOP Show on Earth," a $100 per ticket showing of the Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey Circus sponsored by the Republican State Committee, was slated to play to a packed house tonight at the Hershey Arena.

Republican leaders throughout the Commonwealth and from Washington were expected to turn out for the GOP affair to raise funds for the 1958 statewide campaigns. County chairmen also arranged for large delegations of children from Central Pennsylvania communities to attend.

Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom will ride a live symbol of the Republican Party into the arena heading a torch-light procession which will feature special numbers highlighting political activities in Pennsylvania.

"We want to show George Bloom that the Republican Party in Pennsylvania is with him with muscle and brains and dollars," GOP State Finance Chairman Samuel E. Ewing said.

Open Record Bill Passes in House

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to require most state and local agencies, authorities and commissions to open their records for public inspection was approved by the House yesterday and sent to the Senate.

The bill was passed 175-11 without debate. The legislation would open all records except those specifically closed to inspection by statute, law, court order or those that would impair a person's reputation.

The measure listed the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission records as among those that should be available for inspection.

CLOSED FOR TIME BEEING — Mrs. Luisa Schoenherr, proprietor of the "Sit and Knit" shop in Hollis, N. Y., puts up a "Closed" sign for the time beeing, the reason beeing that nobody wants to "sit and knit" with that swarm of bees on the sidewalk outside. She put up the sign after the bees had been there two days.

Catholic Daughters Hold Installation Here Monday

Installation of officers highlighted the June meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America, Court Miriam, in the Holy Family Church Hall Monday evening.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Helen Megela, grand regent, who turned the meeting over to Mrs. Marie Leighty, district deputy, Court Brownsville, who conducted the installation. She was assisted by Christine Davoli, monitor of Brownsville Chapter and Mrs. Angela Marini, organist, Court, Monongahela.

The June committee plans a retreat on July 13 at St. Emma's in Greensburg. Anyone interested in going is asked to contact Mrs. Linda Berarducci or Mrs. Mary K. Tamasy.

The "pig in a poke" was awarded to Mrs. Linda Berarducci: the special prize to Mrs. Rose Marie Martinet; and free dues to Mrs. Sophia Prybyloski.

Guests were Mrs. Martinet, past grand regent Court Charleroi; Mrs. Mrs. Leighty, Mrs. McGinty, Edith Hogan, phrophetess, Court Charleroi; Mrs. Katherine Humphreys, grand regent elect, Court Monongahela, and Mrs. Mary McGinty, district deputy, Court Monongahela.

The Rev. Charles Guth offered the invocation.

Lunch was served by the June committee headed by Mrs. Linea Berarducci, chairman and Mrs. Viola Sollers, co-chairman. Their aides were: Mrs. Mary K. Tamasy, Mrs. Mathilda Krasnezich, Mrs. Rose Lecky, Mrs. Mary Ross, and Mrs. Bertha Janitor.

Mrs. Aurelia Burkhart, past grand regent, presented gifts to Miss Davoli and Mrs. Marini. Mrs. Delores Hough presented a gift from the Court to Mrs. Burkhart.

The picnic will be at the home planned by the July and August committees.

A picnic will be held at the home of Mrs. Velerie Kula and the bake sale at the church hall. Dates for these two events will be announced at a later time.

The committee for July and August consists of: Mrs. Valerie Kula, chairman, Mrs. Irene Raczkowski, co-chairman, and Margaret Selepchak, Mrs. Helen Schwett, Mrs. Ann McColloch and Mrs. Dorcas Genemore.

This will be the final business meeting for the Court until September.

Joseph Weddle Guest Tomorrow At Bucknell U.

Joseph N. Weddle, of 208 Eighth St., West Newton, has been invited to attend the commencement festivities at Bucknell University this weekend as a special guest of the college, according to John H. Shott, Bucknell alumni secretary.

Members of the class graduated half a century ago will be honored during the three-day program planned in connection with Bucknell's 107th annual commencement.

Weddle graduated from Bucknell in 1907.

Alumni Day at Bucknell will be observed Saturday with the reunions of 14 classes as a highlight. Gwilym Price, chairman and president of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, will be principal speaker at the commencement exercises Monday, when 350 seniors will be awarded degrees.

'Jury Trial' Section Threatens Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UP)—Southerners claimed today that a majority of House members favor attaching the controversial "jury trial" amendments to the civil rights bill.

However, opponents said they were making headway to keep the bill free of it.

One leader of the southern bloc said 243 members—25 over a majority—favor the amendment. But he admitted concern that some northern Republicans might change their minds if the administration turns on the "pressure" over the week end.

The administration contends the amendment, which requires jury trial in civil rights cases, would ruin the civil rights program.

The controversy over the bill so far has centered around the amendment. Most of the opening debate Thursday concentrated on it. More of the same was expected this afternoon.

Other congressional news:

Loans: The administration recommended raising interest rates on certain government loans to farmers, businessmen and colleges. The proposal was quietly submitted to Speaker Sam Rayburn. Such legislation would boost interest on all long-term federal loans to well above 3 per cent.

Fallout: James G. Terill Jr., the U.S. Public Health Service's radiological health chief, told Congress that atomic fallout from nuclear tests is contained in all the air Americans breathe and the water they drink. He told the Joint Congressional Atomic Radiation Subcommittee that this radioactivity has not yet averaged in a year "in excess of the maximum permissible amounts." But he said day-to-day readings sometimes rise above the yearly average.

Aid: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee called Gen. Lauris E. Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, to give testimony on President Eisenhower's $3,865,000,000 foreign aid bill. The committee has tentatively agreed to set up a development loan program requested by Eisenhower to help underdeveloped countries improve their economies. It also was reported to have recommended giving the President the full $2,800,000,000 he asked for military aid.

State Academic Supervisor Named

HARRISBURG (UP)—Dr. Lee E. Boyer, of Millersville State Teachers College, has been appointed academic program supervisor for the state Public Instruction Department at a salary of $9,454 a year.

The new state education official received a one-year leave of absence from Millersville where he was chairman of the mathematics department. The Public Instruction Department said he will develop a program to improve the teaching of mathematics and science in Pennsylvania's schools and to encourage students to follow careers in science.

Death Can Be Made A Laughing Matter

By JAMES C. O'NEILL

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A new collector's item in the literary world shows that death can be made a laughing matter.

Nat Schmulowitz, a San Francisco lawyer, has brought out a private edition of completely authentic epitaphs, and as macabre a collection of graveyard wit and tombstone humor it would be hard to find.

The collection, limited to 250 copies, preserves the dying art of saying bitter, blunt and biting commet about thoe who have had their last say.

Some of the epitaphs are self-written and express either rue or relief:

Here lies I and my three daughters
Kill'd by drinking Cheltenham water:
If we had stuck to epsom salts,
We'd not be lying in these here vaults.

Here lies my wife, poor Molly, let her lie.
She finds repose at last, and so do I.

Here I lie, and no wonder I am dead.
For the wheel of a wagon went over my head.

Some combine the thoughts of the living and the dead:

As I am now, so you must be,
Therefore, prepare to follow me.

(Then added later:)

To follow you, I'm not content,
How do I know which way you went?

Some of the richest are those written by others about those who have no chance to retort:

Entombed within this vault a lawyer lies
Who, fame assureth was just and wise.
An able advocate and honest too:
That's wondrous strange, indeed, if it be true.

Tread softly mortals o'er the bones
Of this world's wonder, Captain Jones.
Who told his glorious deeds to many
Yet never was believed by any.
Posterity let this suffice
He swore all's true, yet here he lies.

And Schmulowitz offers this example of brevity as the soul of wit:

On the twenty-second of June
Jonathan Fiddle went out of tune.

'HANDICAPPED MAN OF THE YEAR' —Hugo Defner, Oklahoma City, Okla., insurance executive, is congratulated by President Eisenhower in Washington as "Handicapped Man of the Year." Today's Movie Homes Are not Glamorous

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—In the heyday of the screen, movie stars' homes were magnificent and often monstrous to behold, but today the new houses, such as Ronald Reagan's, are simpler.

Back in the '20's a home built by a celebrity was a sight for the tourists. Tom Mix's place had a neon sign on the roof that spelled out his name; Pola Negri's sported gold doorknobs and a marble bathtub the size of a swimming pool.

But life in Hollywood has toned down, and so have the houses, except for Liberace's piano-shaped swimming pool. Most of the new young "realistic" actors shun possessions and live in apartments. The only stars rich enough to build new big houses are those who've made a killing in TV—Dinah Shore, Lucille Ball, Ronald Reagan.

Overlooks Blue Pacific

The Reagan's $125,000 home is built in the hills of suburban Pacific Palisades overlooking the ocean, and is a modern combination of glass, flagstone and split-leaf philodendron.

"On a clear day you can not only see Catalina Island but the houses on it," declared Reagan, doing the usual California boast one better as he and wife, Nancy, conducted a tour of the elegant house.

The Reagan home is an electronic marvel, as he is the host of "The General Electric Theater" series on CBS-TV. In fact, it's equipped with lighting that would be the envy of any Broadway stage manager.

By pressing levers inside the front door Reagan can turn on a light anywhere in the house. By a flip of a dial he can dim any light, or make it brighter.

The lights over the dining room table are pink and yellow. Mrs. Reagan can "mix" them in any color or dim-bright combination she wants, depending on what her dinner guests are wearing.

There's a fuel-less electric heating unit, a cordless electric clock, three TV sets, five hi-fi speakers and a swimming pool. Off the living room is an "atrium," or indoor patio, with no ceiling so guests can dance under the stars.

The Reagans also now own a cooled wine closet (these California homes don't have cool basements for such things). The house is quietly done in off-white and yellow with black doors and oriental-ish furniture.

"In the old days of Hollywood, the houses were stage settings," said the actor. "There were no taxes and a star could indulge every whim. Some of those houses had fully-equipped theaters and tunnels.

"A star could be poor one day and handed a pot full of dough the next. He had little time to acquire taste. Today Hollywood is filled with professional people who live more sensibly."

The Reagans, like any home-builder, had their share of problems. The home took ten months to build, several months over schedule. And a goof by the building crew resulted in several inches of water showing up in the living room on the first rainy day.

Gov. Williams Loses Milking Duel to Girl

LANSING, Mich. (UP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams hasn't spent much time down on the farm.

The Democratic governor, Michigan's champion vote-getter, lost a milking duel with the state's dairy princess Thursday. He attributed the defeat to what he termed a "limited acquaintance" with cows.

Williams hardly filled the bottom of the pail in a contest against Anetta Stamm, 17, Hastings, Mich., on the front lawn of the State Capitol. In fact, he finished fourth.

The governor got one-tenth of a pound from a Guernsey while Miss Stamm, dairy prince, drew out a full pound from a Holtein. The mayors of Lansing and East Lansing also bettered Williams' mark.

As well as discovering the New World, Christopher Columbus is credited with discovering the pineapple. He named it pine fruit because of its resemblance to a pine cone.

U. S. Plans Cultural Exchange

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today appeared sympathetic to a new Soviet proposal for cultural exchanges running from ballet dancers to mining engineers.

The Soviet 35 - point program includes swapping tours by the Bolshoi Theater ballet troupe and the Philadelphia Orchestra.

The United States cut off the East-West cultural exchange program last fall after Russia crushed the Hungarian revolt. However, there have been a few exchanges in recent months.

Five Soviet radio experts were expected to arrive in the United States soon—possibly today—to attend a radio engineers conference in Washington. Four U.S. radio engineers recently attended a similar meeting in Moscow.

Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin Thursday outlined the plan to William Lacey, special assistant to the secretary of state for East - West exchanges. The two-hour conference was arranged at Zaroubin's request.

Pentecost Sunday Is Time for Christians To Look at Missions

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Pentecost Sunday, which falls this year on June 9, is a traditional time for Christian churches to take stock of their missionary work.

It was on Pentecost that the Apostles received the gift of the Holy Spirit and set forth with contagious zeal to "preach the gospel unto every living creature."

Pentecost, 1957, finds the modern church still trying to complete that mission. But many church leaders are deeply discouraged about the present state and the future outlook of foreign missionary efforts.

On the surface, it is hard to see any reason for their pessimism. Christianity today has about 800 million followers throughout the world — more than twice as many as the next largest faith (Buddhism.)

American Protestants are supporting 23,500 missionaries in more than 100 countries, an increase of about 25 per cent since 1952. The Roman Catholic Church, which was sending missionaries to this country at the start of this century, now has 5,000 American-born missionaries at work in other lands.

But these statistics, which will be cited in many Pentecost sermons, don't tell the whole story. Here are some other facts:

—The relative number of Christians in the world has been dropping steadily for a quarter of a century, from 37 per cent of the world population in 1930 to about 30 per cent today. Buddhism, Mohammedanism, Hinduism and other oriental religions once considered moribund are powerfully resurgent in many countries of Asia and Africa.

—In Asia, tiny Christian minorities (averaging about three per cent of the population in most countries) are struggling for existence against a mounting tide of Nationalist feeling which often brands Christianity a "foreign" or "white man's" religion.

—In Africa, where Christians constitute perhaps 10 per cent of the population, racial tensions have produced a situation in which white missionaries have, in the words of one Lutheran leader, "five years at most" to continue their work on the present basis.

A major step in this direction was taken last March, when Christian leaders from 14 Asian countries met at Prapat, Indonesia, and formed the East Asia Christian Conference. The avowed goal of this new regional body is to give native Asians a primary role in the evangelization of Asia.

The next step, according to church leaders, may be the most difficult. It is persuading Western Christians to continue large-scale financial support, which the "younger churches" of Asia and Africa require for survival, without insisting on foreign control, which will not be tolerated much longer.

McDonald Says Steel Profits Are 'Fantastic'

WASHINGTON (UP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said today the "fantastic profits" of the steel industry make anticipated price increase wholly unjustified.

McDonald said U.S. Steel Corp. could absorb the wage increase the workers will receive July 1 under current three-year agreements and still wind up the year with profits of more than 437 million dollars.

The union president said that if steel profits continue at the present rate, U.S. Steel's net income would be "about 25 per cent higher than in any previous year in the corporation's history."

About 700,000 USW members will be eligible the first of the month for a benefit package equivalent to 12½ cents an hour, with 9.1 cents in direct wages.

McDonald, speaking to the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO, charged the steel industry was seeking to make the union a scapegoat for "the irresponsibility of pricing policies which have contributed to the rising trend of prices for more than a decade."

MUSSOLINI'S SON GOES IN FOR AMERICAN JAZZ

YOU DON'T hear a lot about the Mussolini family in Italy anymore, and this pictorial report on Romano, son of the late dictator, Il Duce, may indicate why. No politics, it seems. Romano makes a living in the wood business, and as a sideline he goes in for American popular music. He plays in a small band for concerts in public parks and community gatherings. He'd like to visit the U. S., "but I have to live with my mother (Rachele) and she is getting old now."

Hotel Cashier Is Jail Escapee

WASHINGTON (UP) — A guilt-plagued cashier at a swank capital hotel happily waited in jail today for prison guards to take him back to a North Carolina road gang.

Harry Clifford Shafer Jr., a 22-year-old fugitive from a six-month jail term for larceny, had been handling thousands of dollars a day at the plush Shoreham Hotel for more than a year.

Shafer was known by the Shoreham's management and well-to-do clientele as an honest, hard-working fellow named Ronnie Ray Jackson.

Finally, Shafer said, he couldn't stand the guilt any longer.

So Thursday he dropped by police headquarters and told them to lock him up. Then he called the assistant manager of the Shoreham and told him to come and pick up the key for the hotel cash box.

Shafer said he had locked $2,500 in the cash box when he left the hotel earlier in the day.

Fugitive Squad Lt. James Tolson said Shafer was wanted in North Carolina not only for escaping from a road gang while serving a six-month term but also for a holdup charge.

The tall, clean-shaven youth told police he broke away from the road gang July, 1954, near Taylorsville, N.C.

"They had blood hounds after me and shot at me as I ran," he said. "I hid in the woods four days living off berries and then hitchhiked to Washington."

Shafer said he started a new life, but he said it didn't work.

"You don't know what it's like to be a criminal and be mixing with good people all the time," he said. "I just couldn't stand it."

Now, he said, he felt better that he was going back.

"I feel like a free man," he said.

Clifton Truman Daniel Is Name Of New Grandson

NEW YORK (UP)—The two-day old grandson of former President Truman today held the name of Clifton Truman Daniel.

Selection of the name was announced Thursday night by the father, Clifton Daniel, a member of the news staff of the New York Times. The child, he said, was named for his two grandfathers. E. Clifton Daniel of Zebulon, N.C., and the former President.

Daniel said that he and his wife, the former Margaret Truman, were "in perfect agreement" on the name, but had waited until the arrival of the Trumans Thursday before announcing it. Daniel said he had informed his parents by telephone of the decision.

Truman had said earlier he did not want the child named for him because "it can be a hardship on a boy to be named after a president."

The former President and Mrs. Truman spent half an hour Thursday visiting their daughter and viewing the infant through a nursery window at Doctors Hospital.

Asked whom the baby resembled, Truman said:

"He looks very much like both his father and mother."

Blue Cross Payments Rise To New High of $38 Million

Payments to hospitals for care of Blue Cross subscribers rose to a new high of more than $38 million last year, the Hospital Service Association of Western Pennsylvania reported today.

The amount is more than 4½ million dollars greater than in 1955, and was paid to cover benefits received by a record total of 382,000 subscribers, according to William H. Ford, president of the Association.

In its 1956 annual report the local Blue Cross plan reveals that 95.6 cents of every dollar received from subscribers was paid out for hospital care. This is the second-highest ratio in the Association's history. As a result there was again a loss on some contract categories last year.

Hospital costs and subscriber use of hospital service continued to increase. The Blue Cross report shows the average cost per day for care of subscribers jumped to $18 24 in 1956 an increase of $2 79 since 1954 Hospital admissions per thousand contracts rose from 458 in 1954 to 495 in 1956

In the meantime other cost increases have just begun to have their effect Early in 1957 hospitals again raised employees' salaries to bring them closer to community wage levels In order to meet these additional expenses hospitals were forced to increase daily charges to patients

Continue to Increase

It is predicted that hospital costs will continue to increase about 8 per cent annually for the next several years

Additional growth shown by the Blue Cross report was in the enrollment of employed groups which increased to 18 608 during the past year

Three new Blue Cross member hospitals were added in 1956 bringing the total in Western Pennsylvania to 101

Last year, 42 500 babies were born to subscribers in the area Tonsil and adenoid cases accounted for more than 27 000 Blue Cross hospital admissions and injuries and poisonings for nearly 74 000

Keynoting the Association's 1956 report Ford said that many people do not understand the nature of Blue Cross He stated,

"Blue Cross is not a profit-making organization, yet with that exception — a basic tradition of the American hospital system — it operates like any other business or industry Sound management and financing principles are observed under the careful supervision of community leaders on the board of directors

Not Insurance Firm

"Rates and benefits are subject to the approval of the Pennsylvania State Insurance Department. But Blue Cross is not an insurance company It is established under special state legislation as a hospital service corporation. As such, it protects broader segments of the community under more liberal underwriting requirements and at lower rates than would be possible if it were a commercial enterprise

"The words "Blue Cross" describe the entire program serving the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico Still, each of the 86 Blue Cross plans is a separate organization, adapted to circumstances in its own geographic area The plans are coordinated by the Blue Cross Commission of the American Hospital Association."

Ford added that last year Blue Cross plans nationally paid hospitals more than one billion dollars for services received by subscribers.

Local hospitals and Blue Cross together developed an expanded benefits program during 1956 which was offered early in 1957. Ford reported that thousands of inquiries about the new program are being received He said that as a result it will take some time to handle the heavy processing load involved in converting eligible groups and non-group subscribers to the new contract

Welfare Dept. Is Opposed

HARRISBURG (UP —The state Welfare Department would be abolished and its functions merged with two other agencies under legislation passed by the House today and sent to the Senate.

The House voted 191-2 for the Republican - sponsored bill, with Democratic Reps Louis Rovansek (Cambria) and Joseph G. Wargo (Lackawanna) dissenting.

The bill would transfer the Welfare Department's activities to the Health and Public Assistance departments with the latter agency to be renamed the Department of Public Assistance and Welfare

Republican legislative leaders have clashed frequently with Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro, particularly on appropriations.

U. S. Signs Historic Agreement with Poland

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States planned to sign an historic agreement today with Poland extending American economic aid to the first Communist nation since Yugoslavia to loosen Russia's iron grip.

U.S. officials arranged for formal signing ceremonies at the State Department with a Polish delegation headed by Henryk Kotlicki, director-general of the Polish Finance Ministry.

Although the State Department did not reveal the exact time of the ceremonies, they were expected to take place late this morning.

The United State decided to go ahead and sign the agreement despite the fact it covers only part of the 95 million dollars in aid agreed upon.

The entire agreement was reported to provide $35,700,000 in cotton, 32 million dollars in wheat, 10 million dollars in fats and oils and 4 million dollars for coal mining machinery and equipment.

Another $13,300,000 wil be provided to pay transatlantic and other transportation costs.

The House upset the timetable for signing the agreement when it became tangled over a bill to let the government sell an additional billion dollars worth of farm surpluses abroad for foreign currencies.

The surplus disposal bill would provide more than half the Polish aid, U.S. officials said.

Passage was expected Wednesday and the Polish delegation was alerted to stand by for the signing. But the lower chamber then set the measure aside and may not get around to it for several weeks.

The U.S.-Polish statements were aimed at helping Polish Communist Party boss Wladyslaw Gomulka's "national" Communist regime continue to tread a path independent of Moscow without prompting a Russian crackdown.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Yurchison, who died one year ago today, June 7, 1956.

The way was too hard, and you were too frail,
Dear mother, the struggle to win.
So God sent the Angel of Death to invite
You to Heaven and welcome you in.
You're gone and our hearts will grieve over your loss.
But we'd never recall you to pain
Someday we too, will be sent for, and you
Will be with us dear mother again.
Sadly missed by Husband, Children and Grandfather.

loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Josephine Clausi, who died two years ago today, June 7, 1955

No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true.
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
Sadly missed by Husband, Carlo, and Children

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Mary Piersa, who died two years ago today, June 7, 1955

It's lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way.
For life is not the same to us
Since you were called away.
Gone from us that smiling face,
Those carefree happy ways.
The heart that won so many friends,
In bygone happy days.
Sadly missed by daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Parshall

$61 Millions in Road Contracts Are Awarded

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader announced today contracts totaling $61,600,000 were awarded by the state Highways Department during the last year for 53.12 miles of roadway on the new federal interstate system.

Under the interstate program the federal government pays 90 per cent of the costs of construction and for acquiring rights-of-way.

The governor said all the interstate system contracts were for work to continue projects begun previously and which are being brought into the 41,000-mile nationwide network.

Leader also said the Highways Department had the biggest construction period in its history last year, with overall contracts totaling $161,201,268 awarded for 575.9 miles of roads and bridges.

Influenza Sweeping Into United States

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UP) — A new kind of influenza which swept the Far East in epidemic proportions may have spread to the United States.

Orange County Health Officer E. L. Russell Thursday reported two cases of flu apparently similar to the Asian type were discovered in patients here.

The disease is said to be mild but carrying with it a threat of complications which has resulted in several deaths in the Far East.

Nearly three-fourths of the world's passenger cars are in the U. S.

TV Mimic Dislikes Others Lifting Act

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK UP) — Will Jordan, a comic who was lifted out of obscurity by his knuckle-cracking imitation of Ed Sullivan, today cracked the knuckles of fellow comics Jerry Lewis, Sammy Davis and Jack Carter

William Ewald

Jordan said the trio was guilty of swiping his Sullivan sticking it in routine and their own acts.

"I've turned the other cheek on this thing long enough" said Jordan. "It's reached the point now where it's affecting my earnings. The Sullivan imitation has been the basis of my act but it's reached the stage now where I'm booked into a club and then learn somebody else has done my act the week before.

His Real Objection

"What I object to is that Lewis and Davis and Carter aren't really imitating Sullivan at all. What they're doing is imitating me imitating Sullivan. And what gets me even more, is that they're all big stars, big talents, with no need to steal from a comparative unknown like myself"

The 29-year-old Jordan, in the funny business for nine years, began doing his Ed Sullivan impression about four or five years ago Sullivan likes the routine so much he's had Jordan eight times on his CBS-TV show.

"The routine is not really Sullivan," said Jordan "It's an extension of Sullivan in the comedy vein — cracking my knuckles with the palms turned out and rolling my eyeballs up and saying —'That's beeg, really beeg' and 'Beeg shew.' Sullivan doesn't really do any of those things. They're my inventions.

"Well what happened, I think, is that Jack Carter stole it from me first. I was friendly with Carter once, but he used my friendship to lift the routine It never occurred to me he was that kind of guy. Then Jerry Lewis lifted it from Carter and Sammy Davis from Jerry.

"Carter does it better than the rest, but they all do it poorly. They sell the comedy well, but they just don't look like Sullivan".

Jordan has talked to both Carter and Davis about the problem. "Carter just ignored me," said Jordan. "And Sammy, you know what he said? — I'll teach you to dance"

Millionaire Kills Ex-Wife; Fails Suicide Attempt

CHICAGO (UP)—A millionaire art collector, attorney and explorer apparently shot and killed his beautiful ex-wife in a rage when a reconciliation attempt failed and then tried to take his own life, police said today.

Authorities said Bailey Stanton, 64, muttered "This was a suicide pact" But Police Capt. Leroy Steffens said he doubted Stanton's story.

Stanton was found slumped beside the body of his mink-clad former wife, Dr. Margaret Stanton, 45, Thursday in her parked car

"Let me die," Stanton pleaded when police arrived. "Please let me die"

The victim was looking forward to her marriage next Wednesday to Dr. Max Forkosh, 49, a dentist and founder of the Forkosh Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Stanton had been on the hospital staff as a physician and surgeon for six years.

Stanton's condition was described today as "fair" at Illinois Masonic Hospital. However, physicians said even if he survives, he will be blinded for life

The slaying occurred only minutes after Stanton had given her three orchids with a note "To my dearest love."

Cops Nab Colleague

NEW YORK (UP) — Two policemen cruising in an unmarked police car spotted a motorist making an illegal U-turn and speeding away in the opposite direction. After a chase they halted the violator. It was another unmarked police car.

'Mystery Playhouse' to Begin Series June 25

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Slow down, ladies, slow down.

For years I have been warning the men to take things easier as far as their jobs are concrened. Now it appears that the same warning is in order for the women whether they are homemakers or career girls.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation says that tired women are especially susceptible to the disabling effects of arthritis.

Rheumatoid arthritis, the most severe form of the disease, strikes women three times as often as men. Most of these victims are young housewives and working women between the ages of 20 and 35.

Very often the disease hits after an illness when a woman's physical condition is below par. Sometimes it appears in a young mother after the birth of her first child.

It can also be blamed on continued exhaustion resulting from overwork either around the house or in an outside job. We have long recognized the fact that grief, worry and fear can trigger development of rheumatoid arthritis

But possibly an even more important contributing factor is fatigue from overwork

All of you women should be on the alert for these symptoms. morning stiffness, pain and swelling of the joints, persistent muscular aches and pains, fever and weakness and unexplained loss of weight.

The Foundation lists five rules to follow which will help greatly to check the effects of arthritis:

1. Relax your housekeeping standards as much as possible Do your major housecleaning in installments Do not do all your ironing in one batch.
2 Try to take it easier with the children Undue aggravation does not pay.
3. Get as much rest as possible and keep well nourished without becoming overweight
4. Avoid strain and tensions as much as you possibly can. Try not to let domestic and financial problems get you down.
5. Protect yourself against dampness, cold and sudden chills.

Israel Is Ready for Anything

By K. C. THALER

GAZA FRONTIER, Israeli Side, (UP) — In the communal dining room of a farming settlement on the Gaza frontier, a young Jewish boy shoved aside his plate, picked up his rifle and went out to his tractor.

"We had a short respite from this after we beat the Egyptians in the Sinai campaign," he said.

"But now," he added, brandishing his rifle, "we can't take any chances any more. Something might happen any time again."

This feeling that "something might happen any time again" is the mood of Israel today. The situation is one of truce rather than peace.

UNEF On Guard

Across an almost invisible partition line, a Yugoslav and a Norwegian contingent of the United Nations Emergency Force are standing guard, flanked by Bedouin tribesmen grazing their herds in the scorching sun which bakes the Gaza Strip. The dividing line, drawn with a plough long ago, is overgrown.

At the frontier, an 18-year-old Israeli soldier remarked, "It's quiet now, but for how long?"

On the farm, a settler pointed proudly to an engine from a Russian - made tank captured in the Sinai campaign. The engine now helps to generate current for the settlement.

"I guess," said the settler, "this is an example of turning the sword into the ploughshare."

But Israel today relies for her peace on the sword. There is no mistaking that. Government leaders stated frankly that the country must maintain a high degree of readiness in the absence of a peace settlement which will end the state of war still existing with the Arab states.

Settlements Go Up

Meanwhile, new settlements go up all over the country and along the 600 miles of borders exposed to the neighboring Arabs. At night these settlements are lit by search lights arranged in a circle. Guards scan the horizon for infiltrators.

The Israeli government blames the United Nations — and also the United States — for allegedly failing to provide adequate safeguards against a resumption of frontier raids.

Spokesmen charge that the present situation has handed Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser the chance to resume the raids any time he chooses.

"The U.N. force is a symbolic array, but it is not effective," one high government representative said.

Dollar Thaw Pleases

Israeli officials are nevertheless pleased by the easing in the dollar freeze which is expected to bring a multi - million dollar loan from the Export - Import Bank in Washington for use in expansion, irrigation and handling an immigration wave. Oe hundred thousand immigrants from Europe are expected this year, possibly half a million in the next decade.

This, the defense effort and the fact that the big hotels in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv are nearly empty of the tourists who once poured dollars into the economy, have put a strain on the young republic.

But there is a sign of confidence in the future. The state is gearing for its 10th anniversary in 1958 by building new hotels for a celebration intended to proclaim "Israel is here to stay."

Walkout Ends At Parts Plant

DETROIT (UP) — Wildcat strikers at Chrysler Corp. returned to work on the afternoon shift Thursday, ending a two-day walkout that idled 10,000 and shut down Plymouth assembly lines there.

Vice President Norman Matthews of the United Auto Workers Union ordered the return after a meeting with officers of Local 212.

Some 3,100 workers at a parts plant walked out in protest over the layoff of a chief steward Tuesday. Another 7,400 were sent home Thursday because of the parts shortage.

Peter Townsend Continues Tour

TOKYO (UP)—Peter Townsend, once romantically linked with England's Princess Margaret, left by air for Honolulu Thursday night to continue his world tour.

Townsend spent the past 12 days in Japan after visiting other parts of Asia, including Communist China. In Honolulu he will pick up his automobile scheduled to arrive here aboard a ship. He will go to Vancouver, B.C. aboard the same ship.

Always Excuses

GREENPORT, N.Y. (UP) — An investigator on the staff of the Suffolk County district attorney's office was a little late getting to work Thursday. The investigator, Harold R. Freeman, explained that when he got up and reached for his trousers he discovered they were gone. So was his badge, [illegible] and $75 in cash.

PANAMA TO SAN DIEGO WITHOUT SURFACING — The atomic submarine Nautilus lies at San Diego, Calif., dock after a record submerged run of 3,049 miles from the Panama canal. Commander is Capt. Eugene P. Wilkinson, 38.

Greek Cypriot Awaits Sentence

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP)—Greek Cypriot Michalakis Rossides awaited the death sentence today after being convicted of murdering a British army private.

A Nicosia court found Rossides guilty Thursday following a dramatic trial during which Rossides claimed he had been forced by extremists to shoot Pvt. Ronnie Shilton. Rossides claimed Shelton was his "best friend."

Dayton Woman Named 'Homemaker of 1957'

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Mrs. Rita Beam of Dayton, Ohio, is one in a million.

Or, more exactly, she is "Mrs. Homemaker of 1957" because of having submitted the best homemaking idea in one and one-half million suggestions received in a nationwide contest.

The copper - haired housewife, one of 40 finalit on hand for the judging at Ellinor Village, submitted a winning idea for brightening a child's party cake.

"That special cake for Junior's party or birthday," the attractive young mother of three children wrote, "will be doubly thrilling if you try this delightful stunt:

"Press an animal cookie cutter lightly into the icing, then fill in the outline with tinted icing in the child's favorite color."

Second prize went to another Ohio housewife, Mrs. W. H. McConnell of Mansfield, for her suggestion for keeping lamp cords off the floor by looping them over screw hooks fastened into the backs of dressers and desks.

Lawrence Wahlstrom of Los Angeles became the first male winner in the contest with his third-prize idea of driving tacks without danger of hitting a finger by using drinking straws.

Wahlstrom suggested the tacks be pressed through the tips of ordinary drinking straws. The tacks can thus be held in place with the finger a afe ditance fro mthe target of the hammer blows.

Mrs. Alfred Droz of Denton, Tex., won fourth prize and Mrs. James E. Zumwalt of Grinnell, Iowa, fifth.
